So What? Let's Have War?

On the morning following General MacArthur's Chicago speech a letter arrived from a writer signing himself as a veteran. He said: "The real issue now is to end this Truman war in Korea and stop this slaughter of Americans. Which is where MacArthur comes in. I am for his strategy 100 per cent and think blockading the China coast by the U. S. fleet would make the Chinese holler Uncle in a month . . . as for blockading the China coast and bombing Manchurian bases bringing Russia into the war, I doubt it. Even if they did come in—so what? We are openly preparing for war. Let's get it over with." (Editor's note—For the sake of the record, General MacArthur called intervention in Korea "sound.")

The letter, written before the general spoke, used some of the words of his Chicago speech. But the veteran states the policy of General MacArthur much more plainly than did the general. He expressed it by saying, "Stop the slaughter by strength." The veteran said it less intellectually, but with more simplicity. "So what? Let's go to war."

Slaughter

What General MacArthur proposes will either bring the Russians in or it won't. An existing treaty requires the Soviet to intervene if China is attacked. If his policy is adopted and if the Russians come in, then we are launched, well before we are prepared for it, in an all-out world war. Slaughter will, for a long time, be increased, not ended.

Certainly no man has the answers. None may say with assurance who is right. But with the nation not yet prepared for war, and with a United Nations structure still seeking to become the machinery for avoiding settlement of controversies by war, it is a hot-headed person who would wish to say:

"Let's adopt the general's program. If it means all-out war with Russia—so what?"

We see the hysteria in the clamor to have the Senate's Armed Services Committee hearings made public, with television cameras on them. That would be entertaining. But would it be sense?

Senator Richard B. Russell, who is chairman of the Senate committee, wants closed meetings but with a transcript of each day's hearing made public through the press, because high military secrets must be discussed if it is a real hearing.

Right

Senator Russell is right as rain and as sound as wheat. This is not just a news story. It is a national crisis. Our enemies are looking on, licking their chops in expectation. The national security is involved. This is not a school board meeting.

Fortunately Senator Russell is not an administration man. President Truman has given him the back of his hand more than once. Senator Russell has been the official anti-Truman leader in the Senate for about five years. So, the clamorous little parrots can't smear him with any charges of being pro-Truman. He will bring out all the facts. There will be no white-wash. He will do an American job.

That's important.

There are those who want him to do a Truman job and others seek to make him do a MacArthur job.

He will do a job for America—if they allow it. He will let the chips fall where they may.

It is astonishing how far we have drifted.

A national magazine urging an extension of the war with MacArthur to lead it, says, "MacArthur has the humility to believe in God." Two or three letters-to-the-editors have said, "MacArthur is a Christian." President Hoover solemnly says Gen. MacArthur is a reincarnation of St. Paul.

The only implication is these persons mean to say God, therefore, is on the side of MacArthur who is therefore fitted and anointed to lead a holy war.

This is old, shoddy stuff. Abraham Lincoln was one of the first to meet with it in force. He said he was not nearly so interested in knowing whether God was on his side as he was in knowing he was on God's side. Of all the developments of this controversy, none is so cheap as this one to make out Gen. MacArthur as God's man. Have we indeed sunk so low?

We must quit thinking in terms of Truman and MacArthur.

The issues are not personalities. And even Gen. MacArthur says the problem is global.

2 Crashes Kill 24 Airmen in U.S. and Azores

Fighter Hits Giant B-36; B-29 Cracks Up, Burns

CARNEY, Okla., April 27—(AP)—A giant B-36 bomber and an F-51 fighter plane collided Friday during a practice bombing run on the state capital. Thirteen men were killed.

Witnesses said the six-engine B-36, world's largest bomber, exploded when hit, scattering wreckage and bodies over a square mile area.

Four other airmen parachuted to safety. Meanwhile, a spokesman at Walker Air Force Base at Roswell, N. M., announced Friday that 11 crewmen were killed in another Air Force plane crash. He said a B-29 superfortress cracked up and burned Thursday in the Azores while making an emergency landing. In addition to the 11 men killed, five were injured. The B-29, stationed at the New Mexico base, was on a training mission.

HEAVY EXPLOSION

The B-36, from Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth, was believed to have carried a crew of 15 and a civilian technician. The F-51 carried only the pilot.

Officials at Carswell said the B-36 was making a radar bombing run on Oklahoma City. The F-51 was making "pursuit tactical passes" at the huge bomber in interception maneuvers, a Carswell spokesman said.

Residents in this area, some 50 airline miles northwest of Oklahoma City, said the roar of the explosion rattled windows and brought them running from their homes.

At least eight parachutes were seen to open after the collision. Some of the airmen whose parachutes opened apparently were killed by the explosion or died before they were reached.

The highway patrol dispatched eight units to the scene to assist in finding the cut and broken bodies. The victims were not identified immediately, pending notification of the next of kin.

BREAKS IN 5 PIECES

The B-36 broke into five pieces. Seven bodies were found near the nose, which was rolled up like an old tin can. About a quarter-mile away the tail assembly, sticking into the air, marked the point where three other bodies lay.

A mile south of the tail was a section of the fuselage with the wings and engines still intact. One of the wing-tip tanks holding fuel for the bomber's jet engines had broken loose and sailed over the ground and burst into flames.

The body of the F-51 pilot lay crumpled near the wing.

Apparently the fighter plane struck the big silver ship between the wing and tail section.

One unidentified survivor said the pilot had time to order the crew to bail out. He said he and two others were in the tail section. One of the three did not have a parachute. The others got away before the explosion.

FIGHTERS MANEUVERING

One witness said the body of one victim struck the ground so hard that it made a hole ten inches deep.

The smaller plane was one of four fighters from Will Rogers Field at Oklahoma City which

MacArthur Says Views Not Political

Speed of Motorcade Brings Accidents

By WILLIAM R. CONKLIN
New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 27—Gen. MacArthur emphasized here Friday that he had no ambitions for public life, despite a substantial reaction to his "realistic-policy-for-Korea" speech in Chicago Thursday night.

When he reached the Plankington Hotel here at noon Friday, the General found 500 telegrams and 100 letters waiting for him, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, his chief aide and spokesman, said the general had not had time to read the messages. On behalf of his superior, Gen. Whitney discounted "MacArthur for President" suggestions. Speaking for MacArthur to the press, the chief aide said:

70 MILES AN HOUR

"Gen. MacArthur has very clearly indicated that his public life is finished. He has no plans whatever after he appears next week before the joint meeting of the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees. He has not seen the reaction to his Korea speech. He has not talked to any Republican, or seen any Republican. He does not consider Korea a political matter."

When the General's Constellation "Bataan" took off from Mitchell airport at 6:55 p. m. for New York, he rounded out a full day of receptions which had begun at 7:30 a. m. with departure from Chicago. His twenty-car motorcade tore at speeds up to 70 miles an hour through narrow highways bordering the western shore of Lake Michigan to Milwaukee. Several minor accidents marred the trip. When Gen. Whitney was asked about the need for this "terrific speed" he said:

ACKNOWLEDGES TROOPS

"Gen. MacArthur has been going at terrific speed all his life. At various times he indicated slowing down."

As the motorcade left Chicago, Gen. MacArthur was rendered a salute by Brig. Gen. Julius Klein and 500 officers and men of the 109th AAA Brigade, many of whom have served under MacArthur.

The troops, in full battle dress, were drawn up for review on the roadside near the armory. They

Cocke Warns UN Faces Korean War Stalemate

By MARJORY SMITH

Unless United Naitons troops support Formosa and unless the UN uses Chiang's forces to blockade China and attack the enemy's supply lines in Manchuria, the UN can expect "only a stalmated war or a negotiated peace with the enemy."

Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, sounded that warning here Friday night.

Winding up a full day packed with his first home-state speechmaking since visiting the Korean war scene, Cocke told the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce:

"We are paying a terrific price for 'no decision' against our two major aggressors, Communist China and Communist Russia. Regardless of the outcome of the present offensive in Korea, the Communists will insist on a place for Red China in the UN and the surrender of Formosa. If we fall for that, it will be a tragedy, an Oriental Munich, that will postpone rather than prevent a general conflict."

Cocke admitted use of Chiang's forces would be "a calculated risk," but added, "we are already involved in a calculated risk in Korea. Time is not on our side but that of Soviet Russia. Russia will move when the time is propitious. The Soviet Union has a timetable, and it would be foolish for us to think we are not on it."

The 29-year-old Legion commander's address at Atlanta Jaycees' thirtieth anniversary celebration here followed three speeches he made at a tumultous "homecoming" at Dalton.

In Dalton, Cocke charged Britain with "shipping death to UN troops in Korea."

"Every week an average of 11 ships leave Hong Kong for Red China ports," he declared. "Six are of British registry. Every

Ammunition Ship Explodes At Gibraltar

GIBRALTAR, April 27—(AP)—The 1,152-ton British ammunition ship Bedenham blew up Friday with an earthshaking blast as she unloaded at this Mediterranean rock fortress. Ten workers were believed killed and more than 1,000 injured.

Naval authorities said 500 tons of ammunition—all aboard the Bedenham—went up in smoke.

The blast, described by witnesses as the "worst ever heard," smashed nearly all the windows in Gibraltar town at the base of the rock and shattered others in La Linea, a mile away on the Spanish mainland. Many of the injured were victims of flying glass.

SABOTAGE FEARED

It was understood a fire on a lighter alongside the Bedenham touched off the ship's cargo of ammunition as it was being carried to storage houses at the ordnance wharf. The lighter also blew up. Authorities were investigating the possibility of sabotage.

A British Admiralty statement put the number of dead at six and indicated that neither the ship's captain nor any of the crew of 25 were among this number. The Admiralty said there were some injuries, however, among the crew. Most of those unloading the ship were Spaniards from the mainland.

The explosion hurled crewmen and dockworkers into the air and sent up huge clouds of billowing smoke. It caused panic among many residents of Gibraltar town. Women ran screaming toward air-raid shelters.

GIBRALTAR CLOSED

British authorities at this guardian post to the western approaches of the Mediterranean cut off communications with the Spanish mainland and closed the frontier gates on the connecting causeway.

Ambulances rushed from La Linea and from Algeciras, three miles away, to the gates to take the injured to Spanish hospitals.

Red Forces Six Miles From Seoul As Allies Form Arc for Defense

UN Artillery Stream Shells on Enemy; Chinese Cut Supply Road to Chunchon

By PHIL NEWSOM

TOKYO, Saturday, April 28—(UP)—Chinese Communist hordes drove southward to within possibly six or seven miles of Seoul Saturday and cut the important highway to Chunchon on the central front,

The Eighth Army announced that Allied forces withdrew to new defensive positions above Seoul after breaking contact with the Reds in the Uijongbu area, last major stronghold before the former capital. The Allies fell back into a tight defense arc above the capital following a two-hour battle.

Security restrictions would not permit pinpointing the new positions on the western front. But if the Allies were able to break contact before reaching their new positions, their withdrawal probably was several miles. Uijonbu is only 11 miles north of Seoul, and the latest withdrawal may have put the new Allied lines as close as six or seven miles from the capital.

SHELLS HIT ENEMY

From gun positions in the rubbled streets of Seoul, being abandoned by its civilian population, Allied artillery poured shells into the advancing Chinese siege army.

The Allies abandoned the Seoul-Chunchon highway at Kapyong, central front town 12 miles below the 38th Parallel, and withdrew to predetermined defensive positions along the south bank of the Pukhan River.

United Press staff correspondent Gene Symonds reported from the central front that a battalion of Chinese hit United Nations lines twice west of Kapyong Thursday night and forced the withdrawal.

ROAD ABANDONED

The road was given up only after Allied withdrawals all along the battlefront made the lateral artery no longer vital to Allied supply movements.

The actions at Uijongbu and Kapyong were among several Allied withdrawals in the face of advance elements of a 500,000-man Communist army rolling relentlessly southward through rain and mud.

Farther east, the Chinese assaulted UN units still holding above the 38th Parallel southeast of Hwachon, causing an Allied withdrawal. UN troops in the Hwachon area received continuous pressure as they fell back according to plan.

AIR SUPPORT REDUCED

Rain, which has fallen for more than 24 hours, turned roads into quagmires and reduced aerial support of the Allied army.

The pressure of the Red offensive slackened Friday, but it appeared that the Communists were waiting for their supplies to catch up with their advance spearheads. They also were leap-frogging fresh divisions through the tattered remnants of the assault forces.

The Eighth Army had written off Uijongbu and announced that its fall was imminent. But it did not write off Seoul, which has changed hands four times in this 10-month-old war and twice was undefended.

Beef Prices Rollback Ordered

WASHINGTON, April 27. (INS)—The Office of Price Stabilization announced Friday that beef prices will be rolled back at all levels and the total reduction may amount to seven or eight cents a pound by next winter.

The rollback order—a victory for Price Stabilizer DiSalle in his dispute with Agriculture Secretary Brannan—was accompanied by new slaughtering quotas on all meats in May.

Officials said the quotas should produce slightly more meat next month than during the first three weeks of April.

Ceiling regulations for beef prices will be announced Saturday night. They will affect everyone from cattle raiser to housewife.

Live animal prices will be cut almost immediately. The rollback will take effect at retail levels in June when the first of two five percent across-the-board rollbacks will be ordered. Another becomes effective next Fall.

The rollback was announced as the government prepared to start court action in New York and four other cities against alleged violators of regulations covering food, meat, clothing, autos and scrap. The other cities are Boston, Philadelphia, Washington and Springfield, Mass.

Meanwhile, Chairman Maybank, (Democrat, South Carolina), of the Senate Banking Committee said the administration soon will ask for much more stringent controls on installment buying and all other forms of credit to combat rising prices.

The first rollback will not be reflected at wholesale or retail but it will ease the price squeeze on those dealers.

Warm Day Due; Rain Possible

Atlantans can look for another warm day Saturday, although skies will be cloudy again. And there is some possibility that light showers will hit the area in the afternoon.

That is the word from the weather forecaster at Municipal Airport, who says Sunday's weather will probably repeat that predicted for Saturday.

The thermometer in Atlanta is expected to get up to 82 following an early morning low of 64. Extremes recorded Friday were 64 and 84.

3 Wounded As Strikers Fire on Mill

Battle Rages Hours In Wake Forest, N. C.

WAKE FOREST, N. C., April 27—(UP)—Riflemen and shotgunners laid siege to the strike-embattled Royal Cotton Mills Friday night and a Raleigh reporter, a 16-year-old girl and a striker were shot.

The reporter, Jim Rankin of the Raleigh News and Observer, was struck in the chest and shoulder with a pellet from a shotgun. He had it dug out and reported back to the paper to write the story.

Rankin said Ruby Mae Woodlief, 16, was shot in the leg with a .22 caliber rifle bullet and Purvis Perry, 26, a striker, received a wound similar to Rankin's.

He said the highway patrolmen were beginning to move in on the men doing the shooting as he left Wake Forest.

DYNAMITE STARTS NOISE

The fusillade, preceded by a dynamite blast, pinned down 35 to 40 non-strikers in the mill, the workers reported to United Press from a telephone inside the bullet-pocked brick walls.

"They gave us the works, it sounded like Korea," one worker reporter. "We are waiting for somebody to stop it so we can get out and go home."

Violence had begun with a dynamite blast Thursday night at the Royal Mills, which have been crippled for a month by the CIO textile workers strike which has spread to eight Southern states with growing violence.

Rankin had gone to the mill area to cover any new outbreaks for his paper when the shooting started. The Woodlief girl was sitting in a picket shack maintained by the union when a bullet hit her.

Members of the non-striking force inside the plant reported by telephone that they were "hugging the floor."

POLICE RUSH IN

Wake County deputies, city police and squads of state troopers rushed to the embattled mill. Between 50 and 60 state patrol cars have been standing by in the area during the tense, month-old strike.

"It's been going on for an hour and a half," reported one worker at 9:30 p. m., EST. "They dynamited the mill and all hell broke loose outside. The only thing we could do was duck."

"We're satisfied we'll have to spend the night there. My nose is sore from hugging this concrete floor."

The workers refused to give their names for fear, they said, of reprisals against their families.

"CARLOAD" OF BULLETS

"A carload of ammunition has been spent here since dark," a worker told United Press over the mill telephone. "Shotguns with buckshot, .22 rifle bullets and dynamite—anything they can think of to throw at us."

In Danville, Va., police seized the business manager of the textile workers local and confiscated dynamite caps and fuses found in a padlocked room of his home.

Virginia State Attorney Eugene A. Link said he would seek the death penalty against persons connected with strike dynamiting under a staute providing capital punishment for dynamiting "after dark."

RAIN OF BULLETS RIDDLES BODIES, MACHINES

Reds Ambush Weary GIs in Canyon

By WILLIAM BURSON

FORWARD COMMAND POST, Korea, April 26 (Delayed)—(U.P.)—The last troops to leave the 38th Parallel in the orderly withdrawal were winding at a snail's pace through a yawning pass.

The worst of it was over, thought the men of the two infantry battalions, one battalion of 105-millimeter artillery, and one company of tanks. They were wrong.

A figure in Korean whites stepped out of a ditch 50 yards in front of the lead vehicle. As the truck neared, he pivoted, triggering a rain of steel from a machinegun. The truck and the howitzer it pulled careened backwards, smacked into the truck behind, and the wreckage skidded sideways to seal the canyon.

ALIVE WITH REDS

As if someone had pushed a button, the ridges, slopes, ditches and valley rice paddies all around came alive with Chinese soldiers. Machineguns and rifles and mortars laid down a deadly crossfire. Men still weary from battle fell dead or wounded.

The momentary confusion rocketed toward panic. Men scrambled madly for weapons and dived for cover. Two lieutenant colonels and a captain acted quickly. The major, a regimental operations officer, fell mortally wounded as he shouted an order to assemble and attack.

Lt. Col. Harry S. Wilson, of Brownsville, Texas, regimental commanding officer, completed the order. He also whipped out a 45 to fire the first return shot.

Lt. Col. Clarence E. Stuart, of Freeland, Mich., ran to his "Charley" battery and, firing his revolver as he shouted orders, set them to blasting the enemy.

The captain called his "Able" company and led them in a flying charge to break the block. Three times they were knocked back. Two machinegun slugs caught the captain in the back. He went right on.

APPEAL FOR HELP

Cpl. Bernard Combs, of Elgood, W. Va., and Pfc. Nicola D. Ferina, of Pittsburgh, had never fired an artillery piece. They grabbed one and lobbed 75 to 100 shells into the hill in 45 minutes.

"We could see Chinks flying all over the place with each burst," Combs said.

Sgt. Kenneth Bunting, of Erie, Pa., radioed an appeal for help. It was picked up by Sgt. Sidney Blum, of New York, under whose direction a tank-infantry task force was assembled hastily to bulldoze through the block. The armored wedge didn't make it. The Chinese knocked out the two lead tanks and riddled the riding infantry.

The Chinese inched within 10 to 15 feet of the column, tossing grenades and charging banzai style here and there. A medical company in the column worked frantically over the wounded.

WOUNDED NINTH TIME

Lt. Leon Banasahk, of Chicago, and Cpl. Fred Callais, of Milwaukee, Wis., tried to drive a jeep around the blocking wreckage and go for help. They wrecked the vehicle and ran back to the position of "Able" company, where the captain was wounded for the ninth time.

The wounded captain stopped to help medics load wounded on a truck.

They were helping one badly injured man when a Red opened fire and pinned them down. The captain dashed into the draw from which the fire came. The Red jumped up, firing a burp gun. Seven bullets ripped into the captain's chest. Someone got the Chinese with a grenade.

The fighting went on four hours. Wilson surveyed the situation and decided the convoy might by-pass the blocking wreckage by using a lateral road. Having little choice, the GIs tried it. It worked.

FBI Ready To Arrest 14,000 Reds

Party Members Listed at 43,217

By REX CHANEY

WASHINGTON, April 27—(U.P.) FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover considers the Communist party more dangerous than the World War II Nazi fifth column and is ready to arrest 14,000 "dangerous" Reds in event of war with Russia, it was disclosed Friday.

In testimony made public by a House Appropriations Subcommittee, Hoover said there were 43,217 Communist party members in the United States—more than half of them in New York State and most of those in New York City.

Assistant Attorney Gen. James M. McInerney told the Subcommittee the Government is ready to arrest 14,000 of the more dangerous Reds on a moment's notice if war comes. The arrests would be made by G-men.

Hoover said there are 10 Communist sympathizers for each party member, making a group of more than 430,000 people who are either out-and-out Communists or who are sympathetic toward the Communist cause.

ALTERNATE GROUP

If the party's national leaders are seized in an emergency, the FBI Chief said an underground group called the "Alternate Committee" has been formed to take over party work. He implied that its members may be known to the FBI by saying, "its membership is supposed to be quite secret."

Hoover said the Communist party is demanding that American soldiers be returned from Korea, and is trading heavily on casualty announcements to advance the cause of Red forces in Korea.

"When some casualty is reported back home," he said, "the family will receive literature dealing with the matter and telling what a terrible thing it is to have these boys dying over there.

REDS' TACTICS

"That has a great psychological effect upon the parent who has lost a son. They feed upon that vicious, cruel opening, so as to advance the Communist strength wherever they possibly can. I think we can expect a continuation of these tactics so long as the present picture exists."

Pointing to Justice Department figures showing the Communist party has declined from 54,174 members a year ago to 43,217 as of last Dec. 31, Hoover said the chief reason was a Communist house-cleaning after 11 party leaders were convicted in New York.

"They set up loyalty boards in their own organization to screen out FBI agents and informants, with the result that over the last year they have been trying to get down to a hard core of earnest Communists upon whom they can count, and who will do their bidding," he said.

FBI Asks Atlantans 'To Stick Necks Out'

"It is the duty of every citizen to report un-American activities to the FBI," Bills told the Atlanta Veterans Club. "This type of co-operation is more essential now than ever before."

Iran's Chief Resigns as Crisis Gains

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

TEHERAN, April 27—Premier Hussein Ala unexpectedly presented his resignation to Reza Shah Pahlevi Friday night in the eve of an extraordinary session of the Majlis, lower House of Parliament, which was expected to enact machinery for nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Premier Ala's resignation became known at the conclusion of an emergency cabinet meeting. Earlier Ala had conferred with the Shah and British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd.

It is not known, however, whether his resignation had been accepted by the Shah and consequently whether Iran is with or without a government.

The Premier's decision to withdraw at this critical moment came as the climactic end of a tense day. Sir Francis had warned this Friday noon against any move that would close the door to negotiation in the oil dispute, thus risking "very serious and far-reaching consequences."

It was too soon, however, to speculate on the course the Majlis would follow in the light of the new development. The most one could say was that the political situation here, already precarious, had become completely fluid, and that a full scale crisis might be near.

Draft-UMT Pushed Aside For M'Arthur

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP). The firing of General MacArthur brought Friday a delay of at least two weeks—more likely a month—in efforts to reach a compromise on new draft-UMT legislation.

"Senators will be completely occupied next week and for some time in the MacArthur hearings," Chairman Russell (Democrat, Georgia) of the Senate armed services committee explained to reporters.

He referred to the hearings his committee and the Senate foreign relations committee will conduct into the MacArthur issue.

Russell and Chairman Vinson (Democrat, Georgia) of the House armed services committee have been guiding efforts of a Senate-House conference committee to iron out compromises on legislation to extend the draft and to do something about universal military training (UMT). The conferees met for the fourth time Friday and reported some progress, although still deadlocked over UMT. Russell said Vinson agreed to the delay.

Bloch To Assist M'Arthur Hearing

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP). Charles J. Bloch, Macon, Ga., attorney, will serve as special aide to Sen. Russell (Dem., Ga.) during the MacArthur hearings next week.

Sen. Russell will be chairman of the joint hearing by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees.

Bloch started study last week of documents leading to Gen. MacArthur's dismissal by Far Eastern commander by President Truman. He will serve without pay.

Committee sources said it was understood Bloch would draw up briefs, incorporating pertinent questions to be asked MacArthur about Far Eastern matters.

Taft Asks For Bigger Korea War

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, April 27—Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, called on Congress Friday to go on record against any effort by the Administration to negotiate an "appeasement peace" in Korea.

Such an attempt, he asserted, could be expected at any time of Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Taft, Republican policy leader of the Senate, said that United States either was going to "fight a more aggressive war" against the Chinese Communist interventionists in Korea or it was going to be led into some form of capitulation to them.

He took his stand with General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, the dismissed former Far East Commander, for more militant measures in Korea.

"The choice," we told the Senate, "is Acheson or MacArthur."

ASKS ACHESON REMOVAL

There could be no unity in the United States, he added, until Secretary Acheson had been removed by the President and an atmosphere of "sympathy" for Communism had been ended in the State Department.

Though asserting that he would not be willing to "land a single American soldier" on the mainland of Communist China, Sen. Taft, nevertheless, advocated that this country go "the limit" in aiding any attack on that mainland that might be made by the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa.

Challenged by Sen. Brien McMahon, Democrat, Connecticut, as to how many warships and aircraft he would be willing to commit to support a Nationalist return to the mainland, Taft replied:

"I am not a military expert. I would say we would send such airplanes and warships as might be necessary to accomplish the purpose."

SOFT WAR CHARGE

President Truman, he contended, was seeking to run a "soft war" in Korea which had no hope of victory.

For his own part, he added, he was willing to follow the MacArthur proposals for bombing military objectives in Communist China and for giving logistical support, meaning transport and cover, to a Nationalist lunge at China proper.

The United States, he said, in planning decisive action in Korea to end a war of stalemate, "must not be stopped by any hesitation about the possibility that the Russians may come into the war."

Such "hesitations," he went on, did not halt this country in aiding Greece against Communist incursions, in standing firm in Berlin, in signing the North Atlantic defensive treaty.

To the assertions of Sen. McMahon that he was in fact advocating actions in Asia that might bring a general war to be decided in that theater, Taft returned sharp denials.

Integrated Southern Culture Recommended by Dr. Odum

By DICK HODGES

A noted Southern sociologist Friday night called upon Southerners to widen their efforst to convert a bi-racial culture into "an integrated multiple-cultured American culture at its advanced best."

In an address delivered at the 14th annual meeting of the Southern Sociological Society at the Biltmore Hotel, Dr. Howard W. Odum, professor of sociology at the University of North Carolina, declared such a conversion would:

Dr. Howard Odum

"Provide for the integrity, rights, participation, opportunity, and cultural autonomy of both white and Negro people in the framework of the American dream and in the regional setting of a Southern people more prosperous and happy."

He said an awakened regional unity must include "unity of South and the Nation, unity of the white South, unity of white and Negro South and unity among Negroes themselves." He added that "working specifications" for such unities were being sought more than "mere ideologies."

"The South should listen before protesting," Dr. Odum declared.

A four-point program of action proposed by Dr. Odum included:

(1) A remedy must be found for "an inexcusable situation with reference to brutalities, injustices, inequalities and discrimination."

(2) An "Operation Equal Opportunity" should be established in the region.

(3) Non-segregation in all university education on graduate and professional level must be provided for immediately.

(4) Judicious, but speedy, moves "toward agenda for negotiations and specifications for future achievement on the total front" must be made.

Earlier at the night session, Dr. H. C. Brearley, of George Peabody College, the president of the society, in an address entitled "The Changing South," traced the agricultural, industrial, economic and social progress of the region during the past 50 years.

$1 Million Blaze Hits Richmond

RICHMOND, Va., April 27—(INS)—Four firemen were overcome by smoke Friday as they fought a million-dollar fire that swept a warehouse of a Richmond department store.

Firemen battled the blaze for three hours before bringing it under control. They reported that the sprinkler system failed to function when the flames broke out in a section where mattresses were stored.

Authorities placed the damage at more than a million dollars, possibly as high as one and a half million dollars.

3 Penniless Estonian Refugees Get Temporary Haven in Carolina

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 27—(AP)—Three Estonian refugees in the weather-beaten sloop Themis made port here Friday in search of refuge after nearly seven months at sea.

The three men, all who remained of a group of 11 who sailed from occupied Estonia in 1944, had subsisted for the last 50 days on corn beef, peas and hard tack but appeared healthy at the end of their voyage.

Led by 32-year-old Capt. Harald Ervin Mang, the three men set out from Buenos Aires in September 1950 and have been at sea since that time, they said.

The rest of the group who set out from Estonia and stopped briefly in Sweden, chose to remain in South America.

Local immigration authorities said the crew would be allowed to remain in Charleston for 29 days. Their original destination was Canada, but they said here Friday they were penniless and unable to purchase food and provisions for a further journey north.

The two crewmen with Capt. Mang are Vaino Hoolmaa, 22, and Alfred Fillandi, 31.

Professor Sees Tragedy In Lonely Hearts Racket

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

Anything can happen in a Lonely Hearts Club—"from marriage to murder."

That's what one of the world's champion Lonely Hearts Club joiners, a graying, middle-aged professor of sociology at the University of Florida, told the Southern Sociological Society Friday.

Prof. Clyde B. Vedder, a student of criminology, began joining Lonely Hearts Clubs all over America eight years ago and he has come to the conclusion that they are symbols of the most dismal, heart-breaking aspects of urban civilization.

"People are lonely," Prof. Vedder told the sociologists, holding their 14th annual meeting at the Biltmore. "People who join those clubs are eaten up with loneliness and great numbers of them are neurotic or psychopathic."

The professor joined 11 clubs at once, ran a few advertisements describing himself as a "Young business executive, well educated, good dresser, sense of humor, no smoking or drinking, enjoy finer things of life." He was besieged with 641 letters, one-third of which mentioned matrimony immediately.

He ran two other ads, posing as a woman. In one he described himself as an "Irish darling" in such lyrical prose that 127 men promptly proposed via the mails. A second advertisement didn't bear down so much on feminine charm but it did mention that the writer had $2,500— and 232 men answered.

The professor got in his car and went on a tour of the country to check on 100 of the women who answered his masculine ad. The majority of them had "under-estimated their age by 10 to 30 years and under-counted their children by three or four." All of them lived in extreme poverty. Some had sent him pictures of a daughter or a younger sister, two had sent him pictures of Loretta Young and one sent him a photograph of the late actress, Jean Harlow.

"I went in a little house in Florida and found a woman who had given her age as 30 was really over 50. I took her and the children for a ride and bought them ice cream cones and then we returned to her house and she sent the children to bed so we could talk. She was homely and pitiful looking and she sat and rocked and sewed in silence for awhile. Then she said matter-of-factly, 'When you want to get married?'"

Vedder said he carefully explained that he was "a man who likes to take my time" and left, promising to write if he made up his mind to get married. He said he still felt twinges of conscience for hopes he raised and "chicken dinners consumed in the interest of scientific research."

Valor Award Planned By Atlanta Kiwanis

Establishment of an award to recognize "outstanding acts of valor or service" by boys and girls of Greater Atlanta has been announced by the Atlanta Kiwanis Club.

The award, to be known as Award of Honor, will be open to high school students and other boys and girls 17 years of age or younger. It will be in the form of a framed gilt-edged certificate.

"A special sub-committee of the Kiwanis Club's Boys and Girls Work Committee will investigate all cases in which the award may be appropriate," club spokesmen reported.

Reds' Korean Losses Figured at 861,260

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP)—The Army Friday estimated the Chinese and Korean Reds have lost 35,700 men in their present offensive in Korea.

This loss for the period April 22-26 raised total enemy war casualties to 861,260.

Talk in U.S. Postponed By Churchill

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, April 27 — Winston Churchill formally announced Friday that he had postponed "for a while" his visit to Philadelphia to speak at the bicentenary of the University of Pennsylvania library, originally scheduled for May 8.

In a letter to Harold Stassen, president of the University, issued here the Conservative Party leader said, "Since your arrangements were made events have happened which make it difficult for me to fulfill the engagement now."

Stassen replied that the bicentennial convocation, which Churchill was to have addressed, would be deferred but that other events of the celebration would proceed.

"The widespread disappointment will be largely overcome by the keen anticipation that at an appropriate future hour you will present your views," Stassen wrote to Churchill.

The former Prime Minister did not specify what "events" had caused the postponement. Ostensibly he referred to the crisis in British politics. In fact, it is understood, he did not wish to become involved in the American domestic controversy caused by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal.

Oil Tanker Chief Guilty In Collision

MOBILE, Ala., April 27—(AP)—The master and third mate of the Esso Suez were convicted of negligence Friday in last week's Gulf of Mexico tanker collision that burned to death 39 men.

Coast Guard Examiner Daniel H. Grace permanently revoked the sailing license of Capt. Edwin C. Geick, and suspended for three months the license of Third Mate Jesse A. McLean, of El Dorado, Arkansas.

Grace held their negligence contributed to the collision of the Suez and another Standard Oil Company tanker, the Esso Greensboro, which was loaded with 140,000 gallons of crude oil.

"Oh, my God, I've lost my livelihood," sobbed Geick. "I've never done anything but go to sea."

SPEED CHARGED

Grace said the Suez skipper failed to reduce speed of his engines when entering a fog area and failed to navigate with caution when another ship had been spotted on his radar.

Geick, of Bayonne, N. J., indicated he would appeal the ruling to the Coast Guard Commandant. His face reddened and he buried his head in his hands when the verdict was announced.

The Coast Guard examiner rejected a dramatic plea by Geick's lawyers that the collision resulted primarily from two sharp turns made by the Greensboro just before the crash.

ACCIDENT OF FATE

Atty. George F. Wood said that while Geick might have been guilty of a technical violation of safety codes he should not be made to pay the only penalty for "an accident of fate."

The Coast Guard Examining Board accused McLean, who stood the four-hour watch before the collision, of failing to slow the ship when entering the fog area.

The third mate summoned Capt. Geick to the bridge when he left the watch at 4 a. m., 22 minutes before the crash.

Several witnesses testified that the Suez was moving full speed, or about 15 to 16 knots, before it collided with the Greensboro.

Mardi Gras Slayer Pleads for Life

NEW ORLEANS, April 27—(AP). Louis Eugene Hoover, Louisville, Ky., parking lot attendant sentenced to die for the slaying of a Virginia millionaire, asked the State Supreme Court Friday to revoke his death sentence.

His attorneys told the court Hoover is insane.

Hoover, 25, was sentenced to die for the murder of James A. Mahoney, Bristol, Va. Tenn., millionaire. Hoover's beaten and choked body was found in his French Quarter hotel room here during Mardi Gras season of 1949.

U. S. Employee Rise

Abolish Useless RFC, Eccles Advises Senate

Says Inflationary Danger Lurks in Agency Lending

By FELIX BELAIR, JR.
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, April 27—Marriner S. Eccles, member of the Federal Reserve Board, told Congress Friday that the RFC had long since outlived its usefulness and "should be abolished without further delay."

In the bluntest possible terms, the former Federal Reserve chairman told the Senate Banking and Currency Committee that unless the Federal Government was trying to substitute Socialism for the free enterprise system in this country it should retire completely from the direct lending field.

"There is no real place in a private enterprise economy for direct government lending to the private economy, any more than there is a place for direct government ownership of the means of production," Mr. Eccles told the Committee.

"Government participation in either activity is socialistic in nature and will, if continued and expanded, weaken and ultimately destroy the private free enterprise system.

"The Government's function is to regulate and supervise the activities of private enterprise in the public interest, and not to own and operate tax-free financing or production organizations in competition with those that are privately owned and operated and are taxable."

Sen. Fulbright, Democrat of Arkansas, whose subcommittee investigated irregularities in RFC lending, clashed repeatedly with Mr. Eccles over the latter's contention that the "credit gap" that RFC or other Federal lending was designed to fill was a thing of the past.

"The Government is obviously very inconsistent," said Mr. Eccles, "when it acts to balance the Federal budget and restrain credit expansion to prevent inflation, while at the same time continuing in force and effect lending activities of government agencies such as the RFC."

Talmadge, Wright Discuss Segregation With Byrnes

By WILLIAM M. BATES

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 27.—(UP)—Three Dixie Governors who have vowed that Negroes will not enter the white schools of their states were reported to have held informal talks Friday on the growing legal threat to segregation.

Govs. Herman Talmadge of Georgia and Fielding Wright of Mississippi attended a dinner given by Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina. And there was an indication that Byrnes is attempting to weld a Southern Governors' front to defend the South's pattern of segregation.

All three have said if the U. S. Supreme Court orders an end to segregation in the public schools, they will shut them down rather than permit whites and Negroes to sit together in classrooms.

Ex-Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the States Rights Candidate for president, also was present at the dinner.

DIXIE DAY

Officially, the dinner was part of Dixie Day ceremonies at nearby Fort Jackson, S. C., Saturday. But reliable sources said the three Governors would hold private discussions on the explosive segregation issue which will come to a head in federal court in South Carolina next month.

There was an indication Byrnes is lining up a solid front to fight the segregation cases. He already has called on 17 Southern states to aid South Carolina in a suit to be argued before a three-judge federal court in May which seeks to overturn segregation.

SUIT BY NEGROES

The suit, brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, attacks the principle of public school segregation itself. Heretofore, most school segregation cases have demanded equal facilities.

If Byrnes is seeking to line up a Southern front, it will be his first such move since he came out of retirement last year to become Governor of South Carolina. Byrnes is a former Supreme Court justice, Secretary of State, "Assistant" President, and U. S. Senator.

Although Byrnes is a frequent critic of President Truman's "Fair Deal" program, he is not expected to lead a Southern revolt outside the Democratic Party. But he is expected to be active in the 1952 national Democratic Convention.

"FAMILY FOXHOLE" WINS SCIENCE FAIR PRIZE

Edna Odom displays Luther Kirkland's bomb shelter model.

YOUNG SCIENTISTS AT WORK

Student's Idea of A-Bomb Displayed at Emory Fair

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Some 300 exhibits at the third annual Georgia State Science Fair here Friday ranged from a complex model of an atom bomb made by a 16-year-old girl to a practical "family foxhole" designed by a 17-year-old boy.

Sponsored by the Georgia Academy of Science and Emory University, the Science Fair at Emory this year reflected what teachers described as "the unsettled world situation."

For example:

Billy Bates, of Jordan High School, Columbus, displayed a model atomic pile used in the development of an atom bomb.

Carolyn Osteen, of North Fulton High School, exhibited her conception of an atom bomb itself.

JET PROPULSION

Jack King, of Roosevelt High School, Atlanta, had an exhibit depicting jet propulsion.

The "family foxhole" or home bomb shelter, submitted by Luther Kirland, of Jordan High School, Columbus, won first prize in the housing division. Realistically constructed (with an atom bomb blast drawn in the background) the scale model of the shelter included a fire extinguisher, water tank, first-aid kit, cot, table, stove and cabinet.

Other eye-catching exhibits included a workable "iron lung," a large reflecting telescope, the life cycle of a fern, a couple of model volcanoes, a burglar alarm and a mechanical brain.

ALL GEORGIA

Science students from high schools all over Georgia submitted projects for exhibit. Prizes for the best exhibits will be awarded at the annual meeting of the Junior Academy of Science at 10 a. m. Saturday in Science Annex A at Emory.

Prize winners are as follows:

Swainsboro's Pine Tree Day Attracts 10,000 Georgians

By ROBERT RUTHERFORD

SWAINSBORO, April 27—A verdant backdrop of hundreds of stately pines mingled with the clean, sharp smell of newly cut slash, loblolly, and longleaf here Friday as 10,000 persons gathered for Emanuel County's sixth annual Pine Tree Festival.

Sweating workmen spread bunting on top of bunting along Swainsboro streets as top-ranking leaders in the Georgia forestry scene gathered in front of Swainsboro's downtown business buildings, and the persons from the piney woods who cup the gum and haul the bolts lined Swainsboro's festival parade route.

The workmen could give you exact figures on the number of man-hours gone into preparing the annual tribute to the pine; the farm leaders could roll off statistic after statistic on lumber, turpentine and pulp.

FIRST HAND STORY

It was the man from the piney woods, though, who could tell you first-hand the true story of how the slash, the longleaf, and the loblolly have brought a new way of life to the Georgia land.

That story composed the festival theme, from the first stirring drumbeat of the morning parade to the final "do-si-do" of the concluding night-time square dance.

Best depicting that story among school floats in this morning's parade, according to the judges, was the Emanuel County Institute, with their portrayal of a realistic firetower. The 4-H Club won the organizational float competition, while the Mathis Company won the commercial float competition. Swainsboro Hardware won the windows display contest.

Lending lively, martial airs to the parade were a U. S. Army band, Dublin High School band, Statesboro High School band and Emanuel County High School band.

H. L. Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau, spoke following the parade and outlined problems to be met in following directives of the Office of Price Stabilization.

CONTEST WINNERS

Winners in the Pine Tree Festival essay contest were announced by Mrs. Dudley Hughes. First place winners in each class were Bunny Bailey, Carroll Patton, Sara Phillips, and Gordon Garvin, who was declared winners of the countywide contest.

First place in the pine tree poster contest went to Billy Holland, of Summertown. Second place went to Ray Brown, Swainsboro, and third place went to Irving Williamson, Oak Park.

Mary Jo Hutchinson, representing the Adrian Farm Bureau, was acclaimed county Farm Bureau Queen. Unette Lamb, of Summertown, was last year's queen.

A Georgia Tree Farms award went to Kenneth Hall for his work in keeping his pine acres up to the standards asked by the Georgia Forestry Commission and the Georgia Forestry Association.

One of the top Friday night events was presentation of the Pine Tree pageant at the Swainsbor ball park. Presented by 200 Emanuel school children, under direction of Mrs. Edith Russell, of Atlanta, the pageant presented the story of "Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel," and showed how forestry contributed to their livelihood.

Fayette Bell, of Summit, a student at Emanuel County Institute, was crowned "Pine Tree Queen" to climax the festivities and a square dance Friday night concluded the festival. J. D. McLeod was festival chairman.

Air Maneuvers For Georgians

Marietta's former 128th Fighter Bomber Squadron, Georgia Air Guard, has been chosen as one of two squadrons from the 137th Fighter Bomber Wing at Alexandria, La., to participate in air support exercises at Fort Hood, Tex.

Exercises will begin Saturday and will last for six days. The demonstration of tactical air support will involve combined strength of the 137th squadrons, units of the 117th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, of Pope Air Force Base, Ga., and the Second Armored Division.

Capt. Barney P. Casteel, Jr., of 3265 Glenwood, Decatur, will lead the old 128th squadron. The squadron, commanded by Lieut. Col. Ollie O. Simpson, of Norcross, was recently visited by Gov. Herman Talmadge and a group of State dignitaries on a tour of former Georgia National Guard organizations now on active duty.

Solon Caught On Own Law

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., April 27. (AP) — Mailman Robert Churilla kept complaining about nipped legs, torn trousers and fences hurled when mailmen meet watchdogs on their routes.

He and his mother, Mrs. William Churilla, induced Mrs. Churilla's nephew, State Rep. Peter Bartock, to introduce a measure in the Legislature making dog owners responsible for all such damage.

It became law. Mrs. Churilla and her son relaxed.

But not for long. Today, Mrs. Churilla is paying for a new pair of trousers and a leg repair job for Mailman Earl Payton. He was nipped by her dog.

Bartock says it's the first settlement under his new law.

Vet Sentenced For Robbery, Girl Is Freed

NEWARK, N. J., April 27—(AP) A married veteran was sentenced Friday to five years in prison for a $21,093 robbery and his girl friend was given a suspended sentence for receiving $2,300 of the loot.

Federal Judge Thomas F. Meaney imposed the sentence on Paul Juryla, and suspended a two-year sentence for Miss Marion Goodford, 22. Juryla had pleaded guilty to stealing the money from the De Witt Savings & Loan Association in Belleville, where Miss Goodford formerly was employed.

The girl, who was convicted of receiving the money, testified at her trial that she had playfully given Juryla the combination to the firm's safe. She blamed her involvement in the theft on her love for Juryla.

Miss Goodford was acquitted of another charge of stealing the $21,093.

Juryla was arrested the day after the robbery in Daytona Beach, Fla., where police found about $16,000 of the money in his room. Miss Goodford kept the $2,300 in a chest in her bedroom, police said.

'Mighty Mo' Returns Home

NORFOLK, Va., April 27—(AP). The mighty battleship Missouri returned to her home port Friday after more than six months in Korean waters.

Many of her 2,100 officers and men lined her rails and waved to the hundreds of wives and children waiting eagerly on the pier.

A Navy band played martial music as the Big Mo eased into her berth.

The Missouri has traveled more than 60,000 miles since she sailed from Norfolk last Aug. 19 on her secrecy-shrouded, high-speed run to Korea to support United Nations ground forces.

The Navy Band switched from martial airs just before the ship gently bumped the pier and broke into "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

Power Strike in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 27—(AP)—Power plants in Santiago and Valparaiso were under military operation Friday as a strike of gas and electricity workers for more pay went into its second day. President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla denounced the strike as illegal and accused members of the outlawed Communist Party of attempting to stir up trouble on the eve of May Day.

Speaking to the final session of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in New York, Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilizer, declared that America's production "miracles" of the last world war could be repeated and that within three years this country's industrial machine could insure world peace.

But, he warned, inflation could ruin it all and he called for "toil and sweat" to avoid "blood and tears."

Here we have again the General MacArthur issue plainly before us. The general believes we should expand the war now, risking the chance of bringing Russia into it. The administration policy has been to seek to contain the war in Korea until we are strong enough to insure against world aggression.

Is the former head of General Electric, whose achievements within the framework of that company constitute one of the great stories of American free enterprise, merely pro-Truman? Because Charles Wilson's ideas apparently do not coincide with those of General MacArthur, may we expect Senator Taft to doubt his integrity and suggest his speech was written by the State Department?

Mr. Wilson put his finger on the great problem—inflation. Controls have helped some, but what has been done is not enough.

But with much of the Congress apparently determined to put us into a world war at any cost, the real problem is receiving scant attention.

We say again that the problem is a grave one and that it is above personalities. The nation and its needs are bigger than either Truman or MacArthur.

Obviously one of the reasons for failure is lack of inspiring leadership from Washington. But the American people must somehow find the will and the way to fill that vacuum without resorting to accepting the only authoritarian voice speaking to them.

Charles E. Wilson makes sense.

But will sense have a hearing?

Progress in the Fight Against Tuberculosis

Announcement that there are now 1,700 beds in operation for tubercular patients at Battey Hospital, with no waiting list, will be received with approval by every citizen of Georgia. Tuberculosis has long been one of the State's worst health problems, and still remains such, but adequate facilities for treating the infected and preventing their contacts with others are the primary means through which it may be controlled.

There are far more than 1,700 cases of tuberculosis in Georgia. Many of them do not require hospitalization. Many of them are undiscovered. In certain sections of the State, the disease is always present, and steadily increasing. Some Northwest Georgia counties have over 200 known cases.

It is indeed gratifying that the State Health Department has been enabled to increase its facilities for caring for the most severe cases of the disease. Bed capacity at Battey has been increased from 1,300 to 1,700 in recent months and many other physical improvements have been made.

Dr. Rufus Payne, superintendent of Battey, says that 300 more beds will be placed in operation as soon as certain work is completed and the necessary additional personnel can be recruited. Among recent physical improvements at Battey are nurses' homes, a new testing laboratory, and additions to the dairy facilities.

State health officials say that capacity operation of Battey for 10 years will materially reduce the prevalence of the disease in the State.

We believe that it will. We also believe that expanded testing facilities all over Georgia to uncover the unknown cases is an urgent need. As long as there is an active case, mingling with others daily, the disease will spread.

Georgia Takes Pride in Bishop Moore

Election Thursday as president of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church makes Bishop Arthur J. Moore, of Atlanta, titular head of the Methodist Church throughout the world. Under the jurisdiction of the council which the Georgia bishop heads is the Methodist work in 52 nations.

As president of the council, Bishop Moore will be largely responsible for the General Conference, Methodism's quadrennial meeting, to be held in San Francisco in 1952.

We congratulate Bishop Moore and we congratulate Georgia Methodism on this recognition of his leadership ability.

Georgia can well be proud of Arthur Moore. Born at Brookfield in Tift County, he was a railroad flagman and conductor before his conversion in Waycross in 1909. Licensed to preach the same year, he rose quickly from small charge to big city church. After his election as bishop in 1930, his field of service expanded to include the world. Today he stands before the world as the chosen leader of his denomination.

A friend has pointed out that the young Georgian's conversion came at the age of 21, that his election as bishop came exactly 21 years later and that he becomes the head of Methodism at 63.

We mention the coincidence, not to read any significance into it, but simply to wish Bishop Moore at least a couple of more 21-year spans of service to his God, his church, and the world.

Boosting Atlanta's Water Supply

Building of Buford Dam will have consequences for Atlanta over and above the primary purposes of its construction, M. T. Thomson, of the U. S. Geological Survey, has pointed out. The value will be a sort of by-product to the dam's main uses of flood control and prevention of soil wastage.

Mr. Thomson said that by building an adequate storage reservoir in the vicinity of Atlanta, the volume of water available for use in the Atlanta area can be increased to 1,730,000,000 gallons per day. Water can be channeled into economic resources for this growing metropolis, encouraging further the mushrooming industrial development of the City, on which so much of the future of the South depends.

Although the public rarely thinks and rarely hears of the problems which must be met to allow a city to take advantage of its opportunities for growth, the water problem is a first consideration. New homes and new people require more water. Modern industry requires this resource in incalculable quantities. Unless it is available, growth must stop until it is available.

Should Atlanta's rate of growth continue, the city and its environs will pass the million mark during this century. The problem of water for that number of people will be greatly eased through storage facilities of Buford Dam and regulation of the flow of the Chattahoochee River. Without this fundamental resource, growth would, of necessity, be limited.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

Advice to Filmland

The Editors: I want to take time out to congratulate you on the editorial of Rita Hayworth.

I certainly hope the moving picture industry may know the pulse of the people on such marriages.

Sensible Viewpoint

The Editors: I believe the article by Thomas L. Stokes, "It Could Only Happen Here," is the most sensible viewpoint yet given on the Truman-MacArthur dispute. Only time will tell who was right.

In the meantime, let us refrain from petty name calling and center our thoughts on making our great country even greater. Everyone makes mistakes. However, exploitation of same such as has been given the dismissal of General MacArthur will help no one. If a mistake has been made I am confident that it will be rectified.

An Investment

The Editors: Your fine editorial "Allatoona Meets Its First Test" has come to our attention. We so often wish that the splendid work of the Army Engineers was given more credit in the press. The flood protection that Rome received is typical of what is occurring throughout the nation. It is unfortunate that so much of the fine work of the Army Engineers is in isolated locations, or beneath the surface of harbors and channels. The public is almost totally unaware of it. We note your comment on so-called "pork barrel" legislation.

There is probably no legislation enacted in Washington less understood by the public than that for waterway improvements and flood control. It is astounding that so many people, many of them well informed, still believe that old cliche "pork barrel" with respect to waterway legislation. Such legislation is entirely free from so-called "pork" by reason of the method of its adoption and enactment and has been for a generation. Moreover, almost all projects are initiated by local interests, not by politicians or Army Engineers.

There is no other federal expenditure subjected to closer scrutiny as to its worth. Labeling such legislation "pork barrel" impugns the integrity of the corps of engineers and its chief, committee members, and all others of the House and Senate.

The harbors and waterways of the nation, and works for flood protection, are among its greatest assets, vital both in peace and in war. The continuing growth of America depends largely upon their steady development. Money spent for this purpose is an investment in the building of a nation.

The Board Led With Its Chin

Seventeen teachers of the Cook County High School have written to express their thanks for my last week's column deriding the State Board of Education's ludicrous attempt to require Georgia teachers to work an eight-hour day.

Terming the Board's action "about as big an insult as could have been aimed at teachers," the Cook Countians pose the very logical question: "The Board has not been deeply concerned about the overtime that teachers were putting in . . . why should it be so concerned about their time now?"

The Cook County reaction was typical of that which has been forthcoming—from the public as well as educators—all over the State. And with complete justification. The taxpayers, who approved the Minimum Foundation Program while the present administration was still playing politics with it, resent the apparent niggardly effort to welch on its provisions.

Indeed, some citizens are absolutely unable to believe that the State Board could do anything so little. One lady wrote from Vienna: "When I read in yesterday's paper that the State Board says teachers must work 40 hours a week, I was delighted. I said to myself, 'How wonderful! Teachers will have to work only 40 hours a week! I am sure the Board used the phrase 'only' 40 hours a week in its release to the papers. The little word 'only' just got lost somewhere!"

Another, writing from Douglasville, said that if the State Board of Education was trying to be funny, she could assure its members that teacher hours are no laughing matter.

But the one I like best was from a South Georgia faculty which wrote caustically: "We are sure that if the State Board of Education will just do its duty, the teachers will CONTINUE to do theirs."

There's a lot in that. This would be a far better state if all its so-called public servants were as diligent, conscientious and deserving of respect as its schoolteachers.

Russell Moves Into the Spotlight

WASHINGTON—Georgia's junior senator, Richard B. Russell, moves into the national spotlight again next week when joint hearings are started by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees on the issues raised by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal as Far Eastern commander.

As chairman of the Armed Services group, the Georgia senator will preside over these hearings. General MacArthur has been set down as the initial witness, with his appearance before the joint groups scheduled for May 3. He will be followed by a parade of other top-ranking military figures, including Secretary of Defense George Marshall and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary of State Dean Acheson is also expected to figure in the hearings.

Because the questions raised touch both the field of military planning and foreign policy, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee asked permission to sit jointly with the Armed Services body in the hearings. To that end, Senator Russell has asked and received the unanimous consent of the Senate for both committees to act.

But since it will be more the function of his committee to consider military phases of the controversy, he will be running the show. Hence the spotlight that will fall on Senator Russell.

George, Too Georgia will have a second representative in the joint hearings through the participation of Sen. Walter F. George, senior member from the state. As the ranking majority member and a former chairman of foreign relations, which he gave up some years ago to become chairman of the No. 1 Senate Finance Committee, he, too, will play a conspicuous part in the deliberations.

Senator Russell has revealed that his present plan is to hold the hearings in executive session. He feels that it is the proper course because of the military secrecy involved. But he has promised to throw a part of the hearings open to the public if, for example, General MacArthur should request it.

Judging by the crowds that have greeted the deposed general in his several public appearances since he returned to the country, an open hearing during MacArthur's testimony would probably produce another wild scene at the Capitol—with kleig lights, television and the Hollywood trappings that marked the hearings by the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee recently.

The Georgia senator is determined that the full facts be developed on the questions raised by General MacArthur in his dramatic speech before Congress last week. He takes the position that the public is entitled to the facts and he will see that all pertinent information bearing on the President's removal of the Far Eastern commander is brought to light.

It promises to be the biggest full dress congressional inquiry since the investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster by a joint committee of the House and Senate immediately after the war.

On the assumption that most, if not all, of the hearings will be in closed session, Senator Russell is taking steps to make public as soon as possible after each hearing a transcript eliminating only information that might affect the national security. In that way the public will be kept informed.

Silent Fight Two Georgians figured prominently in a silent drama that went on at the Capitol this week—silent only in so far as the public was concerned. It had to do with the fight between the House and Senate conferees over the universal military training feature of the draft bill recently passed by both chambers.

The Senate version of the bill calls for immediate universal military training, while the House measure leaves the question to be finally decided some months later. As the chairmen of the respective Armed Services Committees of the House and Senate, Rep. Carl Vinson of Milledgeville and Senator Russell are the principal figures in the conference group seeking to work out differences over the bills.

According to members of the conferees, a spirited battle has been waged behind the closed doors of the meeting, between Russell and Vinson as to which version of UMT shall be accepted. Both chairmen are said to feel very strongly on their position. Word is that there has been much pounding of fists on the table between them. Last reports were that the committee presently is in a stalemate, with little indication as to when an agreement will be reached.

Preston Rep. Prince Preston of the First Georgia District is making progress on another piece of national legislation designed to save the taxpayers upwards of $400,000,000 annually. The House Judiciary Committee is now holding hearings on a bill by him which would permit the destruction of voluminous government records now held in storage at a cost of some $1,300,000,000 a year. The records would be microfilmed and preserved in this form for legal evidence, when appropriate. It is estimated this measure would save about one-third of the present storage cost.

Spring, Too, Has Returned

The week has been a busy one. "The Return of Douglas MacArthur" was held over as the editorial feature for the third consecutive week. Confederate Memorial Day was observed in keeping with the annual custom. The sales tax began to look as if it is here to stay. Spring came at last! C. F. Owen, editor of The Ellijay Times-Courier, combined the return of the General and of spring and said in one paragraph: "Gardening time struck this section about the time MacArthur arrived back to this country and we got so hot and bothered trying to find a plow hand that we forgot to get mad at Truman for firing him. Anyway, we think the whole thing could have been settled a little more amicably."

The summer tanagers were back from South America and making themselves at home at the abode of the editor of The North Georgia Tribune.

Ninety years after Fort Sumter, The Hartwell Sun commented: "Every time we eat breakfast uptown, and hear some voice with a little accent say, 'No grits, please,' it sorter makes our Southern blood tingle a little—and we want to turn the Confederates loose again. But outside of that, those Yankees are a good lot, after all! They just don't know any better."

* * *

OF THE SALES TAX, The DeKalb New Era said, "Believe it or not, even after less than one month, the newly enacted Georgia sales tax is working. We have been in many towns in Georgia in different sections of the State and while we found some grumbling and a little discontent, on the whole the co-operation of the people is fine.

"If precedents are to be relied on, the experiences of other states that have adopted a similar law bespeak for Georgia a continuing rise in its economics. Surely brighter days are ahead."

The New Era went a step further to recommend abolition or reduction of taxes still on the book which are not needed as the sales tax begins to fill the state's cash box.

THE MacARTHUR INFLUENCE has skyrocketed the value of the house at Murfreesboro in which Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, the former Miss Jean Faircloth, once lived, according to The Columbia News, Harlem, Ga. The Harlem paper quotes a Tennessee paper to the effect that the present owner has been offered $32,000 for the two-story colonial style frame dwelling which he bought for $11,000 six years ago. "People keep calling us all the time wanting to buy," the owner said.

It may be the MacArthur influence that does it in Murfreesboro. In the Atlanta area the same thing has happened to homes with no celebrity background whatsoever.

Historians Support Truman on Dismissal

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, April 27—President Truman may be having trouble with the politicians and large sections of the public for dismissing Gen. MacArthur, but the political scientists and the historians are rallying to his support. Twenty-seven members of the Political Science Department at the University of California, for example, have started a movement to get their colleagues throughout the country to express themselves in favor of a resolution, which includes the following passages:

"It is Gen. MacArthur, not President Truman, whose actions have imperilled the basis of our constitutional system. The Declaration of Independence, in listing its complaints against George III, contains these words:

"'He has effected to make the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.' That was one of the issues which made our forefathers decide to create a new nation and organize a new system of government. The Constitution of the United States, over whose drafting George Washington presided, declares with unmistakable clarity that the President is commander in chief. All military officers swear an oath of allegiance to the Constitution, which automatically requires their obedience to the directives of the President.

"To argue for or to act upon any other view is to be subversive of the Constitution. Policy in international relations is determined in our country by the officials whom the people elect and send to Congress and to the White House. It is not to be determined by Army, Navy, or Air Force commanders. . . ."

Moreover, some historians were busy writing letters to the newspapers Friday supporting President Truman's assertion Thursday that the history of the Civil and Mexican Wars provided various instances similar to his disciplinary action against Gen. MacArthur.

Typical of these was a letter from J. J. Perling, author and historian, to this correspondent, asserting that in the MacArthur case, President Truman had merely followed the principles dramatically invoked by President Polk against Gen. Winfield Scott during the Mexican War, and by President Lincoln against Generals Fremont and Hunter during the Civil War.

"What President Truman had in mind when he suggested that reporters read about President Lincoln," Perling wrote, "was the parallel between MacArthur's assumption of nonmilitary policy-making—contrary to administration policy—and that of another idolized general, John C. Fremont.

"President Lincoln silenced that general for doing what MacArthur was doing and finally fired him. . . . During the Civil War, Gen. Fremont proclaimed that the slaves in Missouri (where he was military commander) were free. This was in direct conflict with Lincoln's policy intended to keep the border States in the Union. Lincoln ordered Fremont to retract his proclamation. . . .

"Gen. Fremont was a popular idol throughout the United States. It was he who blazed the trail to California and he had been a Presidential nominee. Astute friends warned Lincoln that it would be dangerous to cross this military hero, or to censure him, or to censor anything he had said.

"Designing politicians, sensing that they could obtain partisan advantages from an argument between Fremont and Lincoln, loudly asserted that a general knew more during wartime than did the President. Egged on, Fremont refused to modify his order. The people, he said, would side with him. Whereupon, Lincoln issued a public proclamation nullifying Gen. Fremont's declaration. Read the Congressional outbursts and the newspaper editorials which assailed Lincoln. Later, Fremont was dismissed."

Perling pointed out that Lincoln also rebuked Gen. Hunter for a similar act. "Thus," observed the historian, "President Lincoln made it clear that military commanders could not make policy or do anything contravening administration policy. If there was anything more necessary to impress that upon the ambitious generals it was the public proclamation issued later by Abraham Lincoln in these words:

"'I further make it known that . . . as Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy . . . (these) are questions which, under my responsibility, I reserve to myself, and which I cannot feel justified in leaving to commanders in the field.'"

President Truman himself has been getting a number of such letters recently, and while the combined political science-historian vote in the country is something less than decisive, he is reported to be pleased to have whatever support he can get.

What is worrying the President, however, is not how to deal with the Constitutional aspects of the forthcoming debate in Congress, but how to deal with the strategic aspects of it, what documents to make available, and whether to attack the opposition or merely refute the MacArthur strategy.

IN OUR CHURCHES

Ministers To Exchange Rural and City Pulpits

The "split" occurring in the Methodist Atlanta-West district Sunday has the whole-hearted approval of all ministers and congregations involved.

Equally divided by the Chattahoochee River, the district's city and country churches are exchanging pulpits in an unusual observance of Rural Life Sunday.

Part of a statewide observance, the day symbolizes the "interdependence" of rural and metropolitan churches, recognizing the importance of rural churches in the "life and vitality of the whole church."

The Rev. James W. Sells, Atlanta, who heads the rural program of the Methodist church in the Southeast, said: "City churches are becoming more concerned about the welfare of rural churches; they are the roots of our denominational tree."

Dr. Lester Rumble, district superintendent, said 18 pastors of city churches and 18 pastors of country churches will participate in the pulpit exchange.

Two-thirds of Methodism is rural, Dr. Rumble explained, and a city congregation census would reveal that most of the members came from the country—and the pastor "probably did, too."

Lee at Fort

Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, retired, who commanded Services of Supply for the U. S. Armed Forces in Europe during World War II, will conduct religious services at the Post Chapel, Ft. McPherson, Sunday. Gen. Lee is National Vice President of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, an Episcopal laymen's organization. He is currently touring Southeastern military installations.

Mother's Day

Baptist churches of Georgia will observe Mother's Day, May 13, as Georgia Baptist Hospital Day, when special offerings will be taken for charity work done by that institution. State goal for Hospital Day is $75,000. Dr. Louie D. Newton, President of Georgia Baptist Convention and Chairman of the Hospital Commission, said success in this annual offering is "essential to continuation of the large amount of charity work done at the hospital."

Homecoming

Peachtree Baptist Church has its annual Homecoming Sunday with "dinner on the grounds" and a brief afternoon service, including old-time gospel singing, with former pastors, members and friends participating.

Preachers' School

A Preachers' School at College Park's Second Baptist Church is announced for April 30 to May 3 by the Department of Evangelism, Georgia Baptist Convention. Classes in Baptist Doctrines, Practical Homiletics and Evangelism will be held nightly. All pastors in reach of the church are invited.

Burns' Series

Dr. Robert W. Burns, Peachtree Christian Church, continues a series of sermons on the psalms Sunday with "A Psalm of Protection," based on the Ninety-First Psalm. The series ends on Mother's Day.

Budget Approved

A budget of over four and a half million dollars for assembly causes will be approved at the semi-annual meeting of the General Council of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., according to Dr. J. G. Patton, Decatur, executive secretary.

Twenty-six members from 16 states will meet at the Piedmont Hotel, May 1-3, to submit recommendations to the June 7-12 meeting of the General Assembly in Orlando, Fla.

Responsible for planning and co-ordinating the work of the Church in the fields of budget and stewardship, program, publicity, and research, the General Council will hear reports of chairmen of the four standing committees.

Reporting will be Dr. Wallace M. Alston, Decatur, publicity; George B. Hoyt, Atlanta, budget and stewardship; Dr. James A. Jones, Charlotte, N. C., program, and Dr. J. N. Thomas, Richmond, Va., research.

The Council will be asked to approve a million dollar campaign for Stillman College, Negro institution in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Dr. Ben R. Lacy, Jr., President of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., and Moderator of the General Assembly, will be among those attending.

Baptist Conventions

Baptists held regional Sunday School conventions in Douglas and Bainbridge last week. Speakers included Dr. E. H. Westmoreland, pastor, South Main Baptist Church, Houston, Texas; Dr. Daniel A. Poling, editor, Christian Herald, New York; Dr. C. L. McKay, Pascagoula, Miss., and nine members of the Sunday School Board at Nashville, Tenn.

Two Polish Bishops Received by Pius

VATICAN CITY, April 27—(AP) Pope Pius Friday received in private and farewell audience Archbishop Stefan Wyszynski, Catholic Primate of Poland. The Pope also received Monsignor Michael Lkepacz, Bishop of Lodz. The two prelates are expected to return to Poland in the next few days.

Since their arrival here four weeks ago they have made no public statements. Their visit to the Vatican was one of the very few that have been made by Polish bishops during the past 12 years.

German Girl Faces Threats by Reds

COLBURG, Germany, April 27. (AP)—German police Friday investigated a report that three young Communists threatened to prevent a teen-age German girl from making the free trip to America she won for an essay on freedom.

Hans Thomsen, U. S. resident officer at Coburg, said Brigitte Spieglhauer was walking home with friends Thursday night when the three youths stopped her and warned they would see she never made the trip.

The girl, a political refugee from the Soviet Zone of Germany, was among the winners of a recent essay contest on freedom sponsored by the Freedom Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa.

Magnificent 'Peace' Rose Wins at Thomasville

By LEE ROGERS

THOMASVILLE, April 27—This Queen City of the Roses opened her heart to flower lovers everywhere Friday and 45,000 persons accepted the invitation.

It was the 30th annual Rose Show day and the opening of the three-day Rourth Annual Rose Show Festival.

On the dot of 11 a. m., Marshal Marcus Calhoun began moving the first units in the parade whose theme was "Rose Time in the Deep South."

For the first time the competition for rose, float and exhibit prizes was open to all comers and no longer was the State's most famous rose show an exclusive county affair.

But even if there were more entries than before, Mrs. C. C. CoCroft made it an almost one-woman show. Her magnificent Peace Rose won the Queen of Show awards.

And, for the second straight year, her multiple entries took more first prizes than those of any one else, giving her the sweepstakes award.

Adding to these laurels, was a third, the silver trophy for the best buds in three stages.

From the crowning of Thomasville's lovely June Rackley as Rose Show Queen by Dr. R. C. Allen, executive secretary of the American Rose Society, as the climax to the parade until the near midnight placing of the "Miss Deep South" crown on smiling Miss Cairo, the rose show day was a success.

The competition for the Miss Deep South crown was open to girls from the neighboring cities participating in the festival. Cairo, the winner, was repersented by lovely Edna Ruth Scott and the rose show itself was termed the most beautiful ever by all the experts.

Civic clubs of neighboring towns joined local clubs and commercial houses in entering floats, making it the biggest parade in rose show history, co-chairmen Jimmy Gribben and Florence Wood said.

Winning city floats were: Moultrie, depicting the golden leaf tobacco for which the city is famous, first; Cairo, a garden scene of climbing roses, hoop-skirted girls and Summer flowers, second; Pelham, featuring tomatoes from "Georgia's outstanding farm market," third.

Honorable mention went to Ochlocknee, whose float featured a Georgia cane mill in actual operation.

Club float prizes were won by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, first; Pilot Club, second; American Legion Post No. 31, third. The DAV Post won honorable mention. The winning float featured the Goddess of Wisdom seated at the foot of the burning torch of wisdom.

In the commercial group, the Commercial Bank float featuring progress onward and upward, took first place.

Pipeline Stakes Cut Big Phone Cables

Preparations for a pipeline by city engineers Friday halted nearly 50 percent of Southwest Atlanta's telephone service, according to a spokesman of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company.

City engineers, driving rods through marking holes on Lee Street apparently drove the stakes through four cables that carried from 900 to 1,200 pairs of telephone connections.

The plant manager of Bell's maintenance division said that maintenance workmen "will work continuously until service is completely restored, probably sometime Saturday."

Rancher Kills Young Sailor, Wife and Self

PLATTEVILLE, Colo., April 27. (U.P.)—A Jealous middle-aged rancher killed his 42-year-old wife and a 23-year-old sailor Friday and then killed himself, Sheriff Bill William Tegtman reported.

The body of Mrs. Edith Koehler, clad in a slip and bedroom slippers, was found between the living room and bedroom of the Koehler ranch home. Outside in his car was the body of the sailor, Keith Morgan, who was on leave from the Navy.

Albert Koehler, 55, was found dead in his own car, also parked near the house. All were killed by .32 caliber bullet wounds in the head. A .32 caliber revolver lay beside Koehler's right hand. The sheriff said Koehler apparently killed his wife and the sailor and then committed suicide.

were engaging in the maneuvers. They were assigned to Air National Guard units recently federalized into regular air force service.

It was the second collision involving military aircraft this week. A Cuban airliner and a navy plane collided over Key West, Fla., Wednesday, killing 43 persons.

Friday's crash was only the fourth for a B-36 in history. The first occurred Sept. 16, 1949, when a B-36 failed to complete a take-off at the Carswell base and plunged into a nearby lake.

The second crash came on Feb. 15, 1950, along the British Columbia coast, killing five persons. The third occurred Nov. 22, 1950, 25 miles south of Fort Worth, and killed two men.

The B-36 carries enough gasoline to take an automobile around the world 16 times and then tour the United States. The six wing tanks hold 21,000 gallons—two and a half railroad tank cars.

The one which crashed here was the modified B-36D, which not only has six gasoline-powered engines with pusher-type propellers but also four jet-pod engines on the ends of its wings.

Venezuelan Held As Jewel Snatcher

CARACAS, Venezuela, April 27 (AP)—Police said Friday they have arrested a young Venezuelan accused of snatching $12,000 worth of jewels from the bedroom of a U. S. embassy official here.

Horacio Argenis Araquu, 28, the police said, was picked up Thursday when he tried to pawn the jewels which belonged to the wife of Lt. Col. William Duncan, air attache at the embassy. Almost all the jewelry was recovered.

The robbery occured Monday night while the Duncans were asleep at their home in a Caracus suburb. Both Duncan and his wife are from Summit, N. J.

COCKE

shipload is a load of death to UN troops."

Cocke branded Britain's Korean war role "a paradox of the first dimension and an absurdity which has few parallels in all history."

DALTON RALLY

A district Legion rally honoring Cocke in Dalton drew upwards of 3,000 participants from a dozen counties. Many delegates were from across the state line in Tennessee. A huge parade stretched over seven or eight city blocks and included eight floats and bands.

Replicas of the "General" and "Texas" engines raced down Hamilton Street in a re-enactment of the chase of the two engines in the War Between the States. Confederate soldiers on the "Texas," brandishing rifles, captured the stolen "General" locomotive in front of the monument of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, Southern General.

Streets were lined with spectators from one end of the city to the other.

At the Jaycee celebration here Friday night, Jaycee President Irving Kaler told Cocke "outsiders" attending the function constituted "an Atlanta testimonial to you."

CONSIDERS BASEBALL JOB

The Legion Commander told a Constitution reporter Friday night that rumors he was being considered for the post of Baseball Commissioner were true.

"I have been approached, and I am definitely interested," Cocke declared. He added with a wide grin, "who wouldn't be interested in a $65,000 a year job?"

Cocke explained a "screening committee" will select the Baseball Commissioner at a later date, probably in the fall.

At all of his Friday appearances, the Legion Commander deplored the fact that "decisions that were originally military unfortunately have become political."

He stressed his belief that "President Truman had authority to fire Gen. MacArthur."

SOLDIER'S WAR

"It is important, regardless of who is in command to do the job in Korea," Cocke said repeatedly in his separate addresses. "It should be a soldier's war and not a diplomatic war. It is time those in swivel chairs and striped pants stopped fighting the war!"

Cocke stressed need of teaching more positive Americanism in an address before 500 high school students in Dalton. He told his young audience:

"You will not see normalcy during your lifetime. You must set yourself to meet international problems bigger than any generation of Americans has been confronted with heretofore."

In speeches to the Civitan Club in Dalton and to a park mass meeting in mid-afternoon, Cocke touched upon conditions in Europe as he viewed them on his world tour.

He warned that American occupation forces in Berlin are in "dire danger." He predicted that if Communists should attack in Europe, America "would be able to stand before them for only a few hours and would be easy prey of their enemies."

Cocke reported, however, that despite the Red menace, war-torn countries are making definite progress toward recovery.

Insult to Police Laid to Newsman

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA, April 27—(AP)—A newspaperman who is an important leader of the opposition party in Northern Argentina has been arrested on a charge of insulting police in Salta.

Martin Michel Torino, co-owner of the closed opposition newspaper El Intransigente of Salta, was taken into custody Thursday, accused of violating the law (Descato) which forbids criticism of public officials.

The newspaper is owned jointly by Torino and his brother, David, both important leaders of the Radical Party in Northern Argentina. The paper was closed in December, 1949, by a Congressional investigating committee. It ran afoul of President Juan D. Peron's administration in September of that year and the entire staff was summoned to Buenos Aires to testify in the Congressional investigation.

Ignore State Sales Tax, Camp Canteens Advised

Washington military officials have advised post exchange operators in military installations in Georgia not to pay the 3 percent state sales tax on their retail sales to persons in the armed forces.

This was disclosed by Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook Friday as he prepared a ruling on whether retail sales on these military posts are subject to the State tax. The ruling is expected early next week.

Cook also is preparing important rulings on two other phases of the sales tax law. One is whether the sales tax applies to public housing authorities. The other is whether the 90-day tax-free period on products ordered prior to the sales tax means 90 days from the date of the passage of the act or 90 days from the date the act was signed, and also whether this tax-freedom on orders applies to goods as well as building materials.

Governor Active

Gov. Talmadge, who spoke in Donalsonville, Ga., and then dined with Gov. Byrnes of South Carolina and Gov. Wright of Mississippi in Columbia, S. C., Friday night, will have a busy time next week. He will address the National Sheriffs Convention at 9:30 a. m. Monday at the Biltmore Hotel, and participate in the bond drive exercises during the day with Secretary of the Treasury Snyder. Tuesday he will dedicate the new Portal School building at Statesboro. Thursday at 7 p. m. the Governor will speak to the Bar Association at Columbus. Friday at 10:30 a. m. he will address the All-Southern Chiropractic Association at the Georgian Terrace Hotel. Saturday he will participate in exercises at the University of Georgia honoring the forestry students who lost their lives in World War II.

To Investigate Bid

The University Building Authority wants to study what it considers an unusually high bid for constructing a library at Georgia Tech before letting contracts for the second phase of the University System's $20,000,000 building program. State Auditor B. E. Thrasher, Jr., chairman of the authority, said the bid for building the Tech library ($16.43 per square foot) was out of line with the cost of constructing a library at the University of Georgia. The authority, at a meeting Friday, initiated court action to validate $6,000,000 worth of bonds to pay for construction of five proposed projects. The contracts are slated to be let May 25.

Bathtub Slip Serious

Lewis Thornton, of the driver's license office on the first floor of the State Capitol, is recuperating from injuries received in a fall in his bathtub. He suffered a fractured collarbone and broken ribs. . . . Mrs. Ward Matthews, Jr., wife of the director of personnel of the State Highway Department, is ill at Emory University Hospital.

Mays Re-elected

Officials of the Georgia Board of Pardons and Paroles were back in their office Friday after attending the annual meeting of the Southern States Probation and Parole Conference at Charleston. Henry Mays, chief supervisor of the Georgia Board, was re-elected treasurer of the Southern group. Charles Chew, of Virginia, was elected president. Wyndham Manning, of South Carolina, replaced Georgia's Warden W. P. Balkcom as head of the Southern States Prison Conference which was meeting at Charleston simultaneously. Among the Georgians attending the meeting were: Chairman Edward B. Everett, Miss Rebecca Rainey and Charles Pannell, of the Parole Board, and Bryan Hatchett, Assistant State Director of Corrections.

Burglar Gets Break, Makes Most of It

PHILADELPHIA, April 27. (AP)—A burglar broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Maffei Friday night and made off with a wristv atch and a diamond ring.

They telephoned their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francesco, who hurried to the Maffei house to see what had happened.

When the Francescos got home, they found a burglar had entered their house and stolen a wristwatch and a fur coat.

Navy Reserve Release Plan Starts in July

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP)—The Navy reported Friday it will start in July to send home 1,000 enlisted volunteer reservists a month. These are reservists who got no drill pay before recall to active duty.

The release rate will be stepped up in October, Navy spokesman said, to 6,000 a month—two-thirds volunteer reservists, one-third organized reservists. Those individuals to be released, the Navy said, are those "whose particular military skills can best be spared."

Reserve officers, the Navy said, must be kept on duty for nearly 21 months. Present plans are that none will be separated before April, 1952.

Navy representatives said an additional 29,000 reservists will also be released before July, 1952, due to the expiration of enlistments which were extended for a year.

Starting this July, the Navy witnesses said, about 1,000 reserve petty officers a month will be recalled to duty. Nonrated reservists in organized units will be called up at the rate of 6,000 a month and given boot training. And about 6,000 reserve officers will be called in the year ending in July, 1952.

U.S. Bases Set In Greenland

WASHINGTON, April 27—(U.P.)—Denmark agreed Friday to let the United States maintain radar networks, weather stations and air bases on the strategic island of Greenland which lies athwart the polar air route Russian bombers might use in event of war.

The agreement, signed in Copenhagen, was a major triumph for Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, first American woman ambassador. As envoy to Denmark she completed negotiations which had been tied up in a touchy diplomatic dispute since the end of World War II.

The new pact extends the limited base privileges which the United States has held in Danish-owned Greenland since 1941, and—more important—puts them on an all-but-permanent footing. The agreement is to continue as long as Denmark and the United States are allied in the North Atlantic Security Treaty, which has no termination date.

had on display signs reading "We Are Proud Because We Served Under MacArthur," "109th AAA Brigade Salutes the Hero of Bataan," and "Please Fade Back to Chicago."

Gen. MacArthur ordered his car stopped and wished Gen. Klein, an old friend, and his troops, "God speed wherever they might go." En route here on Route 42 at Kenilworth, Ill., George Gavegan, a Chicago motorcycle policeman, struck and killed a collie dog that ran out from the left side of the road. A middle-aged woman, owner of the dog, was bruised when the motorcycle collided with her, and the policeman also suffered bruiser. Neither required hospitalization.

Leaving Waukegan, a press car trying to catch the speeding motorcade struck a 14-year-old girl who ran into the car from the sidewalk. Knocked to the pavement she screamed with fright, but was only bruised by the impact. At other points the official cars slammed into each other on short stops, and another motorcycle policeman skidded into a roadside ditch. Gen. MacArthur, riding in a salmon-red convertible at the head of the colump, was unaware of the incidents en route.

WATCHING KOREA ACTION

In another reference to Gen. MacArthur's Korean speech, Gen. Whitney said:

"He believes that the question of Korea is a question of American sons, of the American boys fighting on that line. He is very concerned over the tide of battle in Korea. He gets his information from the official communiques. He is so familiar with Korea that he can interpret this information on his own maps. He has made it very clear that the blood of American boys should be lifted out of the realm of politics to a higher level, where it belongs."

Upon completion of the 90-mile drive that brought him here, Mayor Frank P. Zeidler, of Milwaukee, said the MacArthur motorcade had far exceeded the 12-mile-an-hour speed scheduled for Milwaukee County.

"The motorcade must not go more than 10 miles an hour this afternoon," the Mayor said. "I will not ride in it if it goes any faster."

The stretch of Route 42 north from Chicago was in festival garb as the motorcade whipped along. At Fort Sheridan, Gen. MacArthur inspected 3,000 troops and called on Lt. Gen. Stephen J. Chamberlin, commanding general of the Fifth Army. At Great Lakes Naval Training Station the general inspected an honor guard and inquired after the health of wounded veterans from Korea.

SIGNS ALONG WAY

Signs saying "Welcome Home, Mac," spanned the highway at numerous points. The Waukegan High School ROTC broke out a banner reading: "We Love Mac—A Great Person." When the party reached the Illinois-Wisconsin boundary, Gov. Walter J. Kohler Jr., of Wisconsin, rode with General MacArthur.

Civic and academic honors were bestowed on the General in the afternoon in Milwaukee, which he calls his home town. He had not seen it for almost 40 years, since he was here in 1912 for the funeral of his father. At Marquette University, the Very Rev. Edward J. O'Donnel, S. J., conferred an honorary doctor of laws degree on the soldier-statesman.

More than 35,000 persons jammed into MacArthur Square in downtown Milwaukee to hear Gov. Kohler introduce the General as "a native son of our state." When Gen. MacArthur said his military service was ended, shouts of "No, No" broke from the crowd. He thanked the 632,000 city residents for the warmth of their welcome. He also dedicated the Milwaukee war memorial.

The Bataan landed at International Airport in New York at 9:30 p. m., EST Saturday. Gen. MacArthur will review the annual Loyalty Day parade in Manhattan.

Who'd Be Tough?

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., April 27—(INS)—A 10-year-old runaway Brownsville boy, when picked up Friday by deputies, snarled: "You cops ain't got notin' on me." Back in his mother's arms, however, the "tough guy" softened plenty and sobbed he was glad to be home again.

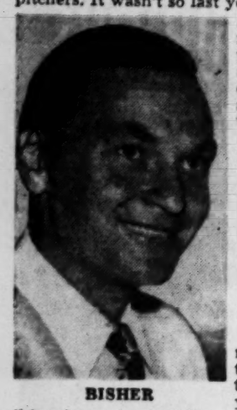
Cracker and Cheese Country Kid Ertman Raps for Boston Attention

Nearly everybody inside the unincorporated limits of Sobieski, Wis., is Polish. Sobieski (the original) himself was a Polish general, the MacArthur type who was promoted to the throne by popular demand after the death of the king in 1673. As John III, the warrior king went to the defense of Hungary and helped to rout an army of 275,000 Turks. For these and other heroics, he was rewarded with this Wisconsin namesake about 20 miles up Highway 141 from Green Bay.

Out of this Wisconsin Sobieski, arisen around the customary cheese factory, has come a general nuisance to Southern Association pitchers. It wasn't so last year, except on Sundays. For Hank Ertman spent a modest .256 season with us as first baseman on Dixie Walker's champions. This season, though, the Cracker and Cheese Country Kid has gone to the defense of Atlanta pitching as diligently as old Gen. John the Third Sobieski went to the side of the Hungarians.



BISHER

Ertman became, as the 1950 campaign wore on, a Sunday phenomena. His week-night achievements were generally negligible, but of a Sunday afternoon, the Polish Ertman poleaxed Southern pitchers with savagery. Our Jess Outlar, who kept close watch over the Crackers, figured that Ertman hit over .300 on Sunday, and that about half of his 19 home runs were produced in daylight.

"If I ever was a 'daylight' hitter, I never noticed it until last year," Henry the Hammer said emerging from the batting cage. "I guess it's just natural that you do see better in daylight. Everything is moving quicker at night."

One Bad Season Isn't Necessarily Fatal

The Ertman art has been broadcast over the entire haul this season, though his Sunday productivity remains exceptional. It was his triple that won the first of two from Mobile two Sabbaths back, and in Chattanooga last Sunday he was a .333 swinger. However, his effectiveness has lapped over into the nightside this season. He was goose-egged by Tom Lakos in the Mobile opener, but as he went into the series inaugural with Chattanooga Friday night, he hadn't been without a basehit since. That constituted a string of 12 games.

He also led the league in runs batted in, and his .366 average was the Crackers' supreme. This would appear to demand an explanation, though at no time did anyone demand a hearing about his unbecoming average last season. His line drives were ill-directed. At no time did he become a malignant liability. He struck out only 47 times. Ebba St. Claire whiffed 55 times, Bob Thorpe 49.

"I guess, if anything, that I found out a fellow didn't get killed for having a bad year. There wasn't anybody waiting to belt me one when I left the dressing room. Everybody was kind to me, even if I wasn't hitting. I think that gave me confidence for this season. Then, of course, I've got a season under my belt in double A."

If Memphis is tuned in, it might be said Ertman isn't at all pleased that Luke Appling decided to keep Leonardo Goicoechea. "I didn't mind Bob Schultz half as much as the Cuban. You could never tell where he was liable to throw next. Funny thing about Schultz, some of the hardest balls I hit were off him. But they were always at somebody."

In the Ertman past is a football chapter that could have read him into the big league of the pad and helmet. He was a feather-footed halfback at Superior Teachers in Wisconsin, twice in his two seasons hauled kickoffs back the length of the field for touchdowns.

Steve Owen Signed Him and Lost Him

The New York Giants trained at Superior, and Stout Steve Owen nailed Ertman to his draft list for 1948. Hank went so far as to sign a contract, but no further.

"Baseball scouts told me I could go all the way as a first baseman, so I stayed with baseball. You see, I'd been playing pro baseball while I was in college, but I was still eligible for other sports at Superior. Owen raised the dickens with me when I didn't report. Maybe he thought I really had a chance. Anyway, there I was in the football big league and here I am still trying to make it in baseball. Steve might have been right."

Ertman has made two Spring appearances in the parent Boston Braves' camp. He played only slightly this season until the squad split. ("Five swings a day was batting practice for me. That isn't enough even for a pitcher.") Ahead of him in the chain of first base command are Earl Torgeson at Boston, still a young man, and a suspected new Negro sensation, George Crowe, at Milwaukee. Hank may have been just a year late, for last season Milwaukee called on five first basemen and never found its man.

Whether he has chosen right or wrong, it's too late to change now. ("You don't start a football career at 27.") The Giants have since traded his contract to the Green Bay Packers, but even this invitation to Wisconsin football heaven didn't budge him. Except for a coaching future, Hank Ertman remains, sincerely yours, a first baseman.

Tech's Talladega Combine Of Turner and Hicks Clicks

By EDWIN POPE

Glenn Turner and Johnny Hicks, a finely fashioned twin-cylinder unit from Talladega, Ala., who took the scenic route to Georgia Tech, were tourist attractions in themselves Friday night. They cruised their big White machine to a 14-0 victory over the Blues in the annual T-Day classic, concluding Spring football practice.

As a matter of fact, they ran up most as much mileage this rain-cooled night as they had in coming to Atlanta via Chattanooga's Baylor school for boys.

Turner slashed into right tackle, then back, then down 28 yards for White's first touchdown, in the first quarter. Hicks was the White plowhorse night long, and carried the final touchdown one simple yard with two minutes remaining in the game.

Fullback Turner belted both extra points and Pat Brooks, another Baylorite before he took polio, held them. The ironic notes were that Whitey Urban, who left Baylor this Winter to become a Jacket line coach, was a Blue mentor, and the Whites' defense held little Leon Hardeman, a Blue halfback out of Baylor, with hardly a murmur.

EX-REB PEPPER RODGERS

Pulls on First Varsity Jersey

But it was a perfect evening for football after afternoon rains washed out the early stuffiness and wrapped a smaller-than-expected Grant Field turnout of 2,000 fans in a blanket of exemplary Spring clime.

A number of these patrons, however, wound up with the spiritual blues for taking the physical ones. Pre-game mumblings had the Blues a slight edge, mainly because of Dave Davis, giant Virginia end of the powerful punt. Davis did his share but a stuttering offense guided by sophomore Pepper Rodgers coughed out every time it looked as if it were warming.

First White touchdown was an overall 47-yard project that needed only four downs. Tennessee Junior Harry Wright struck left tackle for 10, Turner moved seven more off guard to the 30, three more to the 27, then made his big play. He took a Crawford handoff, rammed off right tackle, cut back into the middle and sped diagonally to the left and over without being touched.

The Blues did not get beyond midfield in the second quarter, and only a fine, lunging interception by Atlanta Halfback Lawton Grant, of these Blues, saved another early White score. He snatched Darrell Crawford's pass from the air at his two and moved it back to his 18.

Sharp White secondary work and a bull-through by Atlanta Defensive End Cecil Trainer turned back an early, third-quarter Blue drive.

Senior George Maloof ran 20 and 27 yards in the heart of a 61-yard march from the Blue 30. But with a first down at the White 10, the Blue attack buckled. Dick Pretz got but a yard, Hardeman was thrown back to the 10, Rodgers tossed a too-long pass and Trainer busted through to nail Rodgers at the 21 on the last play of the series.

And that was it, threatwise, until the Whites uncorked their final punch, just for good measure. It was a 52-yard effort like this, if you will pardon the Baylor boys: Bill Teas (Baylor) from own 48 to Blue 47. Teas to 43. Hicks to 35. Turner to 29. Hicks to 22. Turner to 18. Turner to 6. Offsides penalty to 1. Hicks over.

It could have been a cheering night for Bobby Dodd, who had suffered through an erratic Spring session. For despite the general lack of offensive polish, there was good tackling and some adequate line blocking.

Orville Vereen, tiny Miami sophomore who was signed up weighing les sthan 160 pounds (he weighs 170 now but acts like more) was a White defensive staunchion at right guard and George Morris, graceful Gainesville junior center, headed the Blues offensively and defensively. Darrell Crawford, Kingsport, Tenn., junior quarterback, was the forgotten man in the White drives. His selection of plays for contingent bench bossed by Ray Graves, Frank Broyles, Bob Miller and Mackie Mulherin, was excellent, and he threw well.

Senators Beat A's, 6-1, Take Over Loop Lead

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP)—Washington took over undisputed first place in the American League Friday night, defeating the luckless Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Sandalio Consuegra, Cuban right-hander.

With their seventh victory in eight games the Senators are off to their most successful start in history.

Philadelphia—Dealt its eighth straight loss—cuffed Consuegra for four of its five hits in the first two innings. Ferris Fain's sixth inning single which took a bad hop over short stop Sam Dente's head was the only hit off Consuegra in the last seven innings as he posted his second win in as many starts.

Eddie Joost's double and Elmer Valo's single produced the A's run in the first inning, but Gil Coan's triple and Irv Noren's double off Carl Scheib, the loser, tied the score in the Senators' first.

A walk to Dente, Consuegra's grounder and Eddie Yost's single fetched Washington a run in the second inning. Washington added three more in the eighth on a walk, singles by Coan and Dente and errors by third baseman Kermit Wahl and right-fielder Valo. Consuegra's infield single with the bases filled got Washington its final run off Hank Wyse in the seventh.

It marked the sixth time in eight games that Washington's starter remained the route. It also was a continuation of the A's batting slump which has seen them score only two runs in their last four games.

Coan led Washington's 10-hit attack with a triple and two singles.

Rose Bowlers Will Return Each T-Day

A stout bunch of Georgia Tech's great 1928 Rose Bowlers came back home Friday night for the T-Day Spring football game and what started as a more honorary reunion will become an annual affair.

Tech officials announced that the school would sponsor each year a "Welcome Back, Rose Bowl Team" reunion, concurrent with the T-Day game.

Checking in just before game time Friday were tackle Coot Watkins, Moultrie; back Charlie Brumby, Marietta; back Stumpy Thomason, Charlotte; back Warner Mizell, Atlanta; tackle T. G. Jones, Atlanta; tackle Vance Maree, Marietta; back Bob Randolph and manager Buster Harris.

Elmer Brown ,newly-appointed trainer of T. C. U.'s athletic teams, is the second member of his family to hold such a post in the Southwest Conference. His twin brother, Delmer, is trainer for Baylor University.

How to Take Care of Your Car

By Louis Hochman, National Magazine Automotive Feature Writer

TIP NO. 32

How's Your Compression? Without good compression, you'll never get your money's worth out of your engine. The power that should be pumping your pistons will be fizzing out through leaks instead.

For good compression, each cylinder should be a perfect seal. Head bolts must be uniformly tight. The head gasket and spark plug gaskets should seal right. Piston rings and/or cylinders should not be worn to a loose fit. Valves must be adjusted right and seat tightly.

It is more important for all cylinders to have uniform compression than just high compression, so make sure there's no more than 6 pounds pressure variance between cylinders. Any more should be checked and remedied.

Have a compression test made to find out if and where your power is sneaking out on you.

TIP NO. 76

Something To Get Your Teeth Into... As children we learn to brush our teeth twice a day and see our dentist twice a year. Saves crossing a lot of expensive bridgework later on. Same thing applies to our ears. Keep the surface clean, put a long lasting glaze on the paint, and we might save the cost of an expensive repaint job. You do it with Wax Seal, the amazing double action car polish that cleans as it waxes, polishes as it seals. Takes an hour or less and about the same effort you'd put into a round of golf. Saves you the cost of buying a special cleaning solvent, too. A Wax Sealed car will stay shiny and protected for several months. Most folks get four polish jobs from a $1.65 pint of Wax Seal, and that's a bargain in car care in anybody's language.

Homers By Boston Sink Giants, 7-3

NEW YORK, April 27—(AP)—A couple of ex-Giants, Willard Marshall and Sid Gordon, made life more miserable for the New Yorkers Friday as they poled homers to lead the Boston Braves to a 7-3 triumph.

Marshall's blast, a three-run poke that climaxed a five-run spree in the sixth, put the Braves ahead and enabled them to capture their fourth straight victory. The Giants went down to their ninth straight defeat.

Leo Durocher shook up his line-up like mad and for a while it looked like it was going to help. He put Ray Noble in to catch, reinstated Eddie Stanky at second and spotted young Jack Maguire in right field.

Gordon iced the cake with a four-bagger in the eighth.

Spahn, a 21-game winner last year, thus came up with his first win of the year on a five-hitter. He had lost two. Hearn was charged with his second loss against one victory.

Mulbry Quits As Baseball Secretary

By CLAUDE WOLFF

CINCINNATI, April 27—(AP)—Walter Mulbry jumped the gun on his resignation as Secretary-Treasurer of baseball Friday, walked out of his office and purportedly paved the way for a new deal in the management of the national pastime.

At least, that is the picture, based on developments in the last 24 hours.

Those developments:

The Executive Council of baseball was told that Commissioner A. B. Chandler would not resign —following failure of re-election —unless Mulbry, former friend, now bitter enemy, got out of the picture.

Mulbry did so Friday. His formal resignation was presented to the executive council on March 13. The council asked him to stay on the job. Friday, he said he had had enough of his $30,000 a year job.

That followed word from New York Thursday that Chandler told the council he only would quit a year ahead of the end of his seven-year contract after Mulbry left. His $65,000 a year tenure ends April 30, 1952. Baseball club owners offered to pay the contract.

ROCKMART MENTOR RESIGNS

Langley To Coach, Study at Kentucky

By FURMAN BISHER

Coach J. D. Langley, who tied his 1950 Rockmart High School football team to a meteor named Max Mason, has resigned and will enter the University of Kentucky as a student and part-time member of Paul Bryant's athletic staff, The Constitution learned Friday.

J. D. LANGLEY
To Leave Rockmart Post

Langley and school officials at Rockmart had no comment.

At Lexington, Ky., though, there were indications that Langley was expected. "If he does enter school for advanced study," said Bryant, busy working with the annual Kentucky Coaching Clinic, "We'll be happy to have him as a member of our coaching staff. We have a lot of respect for him and his coaching ability at Kentucky, and would welcome him to our staff."

Langley will be following Mason, his prize product at Rockmart, to Kentucky. The All-State, All-South, All-American halfback signed a grant-in-aid with the Wildcats last December. He was voted the prep "Player of the Year" in Georgia last season.

In his third season at Rockmart, Langley produced the state class A championship and a Peanut Bowl victory over Holyoke, Mass., on New Year's Day. He broke into the coaching field at Bremen in 1946.

Langley spent his collegiate days as a center at the University of Chattanooga, played out his string in 1943. He jumped from the Moccasin campus to the baseball Lookouts of the Southern Association and played first base for Bert Niehoff's second-place club of 1945.

Except for short runs in the Georgia-Alabama League, he hasn't played professional baseball since.

By a recent poll of his Georgia contemporaries, Langley was voted the "Coach of the Year" and is to receive the annual award at the Georgia High School Clinic here in August.

Tech, Georgia Runners Vie

Georgia Tech's track and field stalwarts will entertain University of Georgia Saturday afternoon at Grant Field, and for the first time this season the Jackets will be favored to chalk up a victory.

Coach Spec Towns' Bulldogs will be sadly crippled for the meet. Captain Boo Mitchel, ace hurdler, and sprinters Ben Sutton and Bob Hornbuckle are all on the ailing list. Lonnie O'Quinn, jumping expert, and Guy Fleming, 880, are two Georgia stars who are enjoying good health and should star for the Bulldogs, however.

Buddy Fowlkes, the Jacket ace, will go after his usual 20 points again. He is entered in the dashes, low hurdles, broad jump and discus throw.

The meet starts at 1:30 p. m.

Milton Nine Nips Roswell 1st Time

Carroll Shirley bested Jamie Wall in a mound duel at Alpharetta Friday as Milton High won its first baseball decision in history from Roswell High, 4-3.

The losers outhit the winners, 7-6, and each hurler whiffed six batters. A fourth inning triple by Milton's Charles Burnett was the only extra base blow. The winning run came across in the sixth. James Pirkle walked; Burnett sacrificed, and Charlie Martin singled the tally home.

It was Milton's third victory in four starts.

Rome Nips N. Fulton In 13, 2-1

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Glenn Johnson, as all-conquering in his own way at Rome, Ga., as Julius Caesar once was in Rome, Italy, put another star in his athletic victory crown Friday, but it took one of his most magnificent efforts to turn back the bid of unheralded Curtis Oslin and Wayman Creel's invading North Fulton baseball nine.

Glenn Johnson

The all-state football, basketball and baseball ace was forced to pump his righthanded slants past the Bulldogs before Dick McPhee's Romans could puncture the armor of Lefthanded Oslin for the winning run in a 2-1 classic that kept the Hilltoppers atop the Region 4-AA standings.

Curtis Oslin

When this prep hurling duel of the year was done Johnson, who snuffed out Marietta on two hits in his last mound stint last Tuesday, had given up seven hits and fanned nine. Oslin, who never pitched a league game before this year, had allowed only nine blows and had whiffed a half dozen.

P. B. Burdette, Jim Hickerson and Lester Hardeman banged successive third inning singles for North Fulton's only run. Rome knotted the issue in the fourth on Billy Byars' triple and Larry Muschamp's one-baser. The exact same combination unlocked the deadlock in the unlucky—for North Fulton—13th.

Bud Theodocion tossed a three-hitter to give Marietta an 8-0 victory over Marist at Marietta, and the West Fulton-Cedartown game was rained out. Oliver Studstill swatted a three-run round tripper for Marietta, and Jim Fitts and Jack Ingram cracked two safeties each, one of Ingram's going for two bases.

Pat O'Sullivan, Murray in Finals

PINEHURST, N. C., April 27—(AP)—Two roommates who share desk work at a resort hotel in nearby Southern Pines Friday gained the finals of the North and South women's amateur golf tournament.

Defending Champion Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and Mae Murray of Rutland, Vt., scored impressive semifinal victories to move into an 18-hole championship match Saturday that each alternately welcomed and dreaded.

Miss O'Sullivan shot one under par golf to win, 4 and 3, from Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., her second-round conquerer two years ago.

Miss Murray was even with par in romping to a 6 and 5 victory over Charlotte DeCozen of Parsippany, N. J., the upset queen who put out Dorothy Kielty and Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page in early rounds.

The Brooks ripped into Bubba Church for three hits and three runs in the second inning, continued their cannonading against rookies Leo Cristante and Jack Brittin and finally subsided in the final two frames against Milo Candini.

'Kid' Ted vs. Press

Boston Writer Calls Williams 'Big Busher' in Clubhouse Feud

BOSTON, April 27—(AP)—Ted Williams is on the offensive again in his continuing dispute with the Boston press. The tall hitter, who has been relatively quiet for nearly a month, fired another broadside Thursday night and it was returned fiercely by a Boston writer.

"You guys only come in here after we win a game," Williams growled, referring to the presence of the reporters in the dressing room after the Yanks had been beaten in the opener of a two-game series Thursday. Ted had gone hitless in the game.

None of the newspapermen present had been talking to him but Murray Kramer, veteran baseball writer of the Boston Record, immediately turned from a conversation with Vern Stephens and challenged Williams' statement.

"We'd be in here, win, lose or draw, if you guys hadn't passed rules keeping us out," Kramer said.

The reporter was referring to a club rule which prohibits the press from entering the dressing room until 15 minutes after the end of a game.

"If I had my way, you'd never get in at all," rasped the $125,000 hitter. "Happy Chandler kept you out in the World Series, I notice."

"Yeah, and look what happened to Chandler," Kramer answered. "You won't be around forever either, you big busher."

Williams was incorrect in his reference to the Commissioner. Chandler barred reporters from dressing rooms in the Series only at the specific requests of the individual managers.

Idle Crackers Grab Lead in Southern

Slick Pitching Right Handers, Southpaw Sluggers Pave Way

By JESSE OUTLAR

Atlanta's Crackers took over the Southern Association lead for the first time this season Friday without striking a lick. But it took some torrid action by right-handed pitchers and three southpaw stickers to get the defending champs in the chips.

Wet grounds postponed the series opener with Chattanooga at Ponce de Leon Park, and Little Rock lost to Mobile to pave the way for the first place percentage position.

Right-handers have won all ten games for Atlanta, but three left-handed hitters have kept the wrong side boys in the spotlight.

Hank Ertman, Jack Dittmer and Country Brown drove in 36 runs in the first 13 games. The rest of the club has only 25 between them.

Ertman, keeping his promise to be a better hitter, leads the Crackers and the rest of the circuit in runs batted-in. Hammering Hank has chased 15 mates home.

He has hit safely in the last 12 games and seven of his 18 blows have been for extra-bases.

Either Kirby Higbe or Joe Reardon will toss Saturday night as the Crackers shoot for their seventh straight triumph. Erstwhile Cracker Norman Brown goes for the Lookouts.

The postponed tilt probably will be made up June 4.

Only rookie Dittmer, who can detect no difference in Western League and Southern Association pitching, has a higher average than Ertman's .367.

Dittmer is sailing along at a lusty .375 tempo, two points higher than his Class A mark last year and has propelled 11 runs home.

Brown, apparently headed for one of his best years, has driven in 10 runs. Eight of Country's 17 safe licks have been for extra bases, including two home runs.

This trio and rookie Chuck Tanner, also a left-handed knocker, have pushed the winning run over in five of the ten games.

Ray Williams has knocked in the decisive tally twice, and Charlie Williams once. Both are right-handed. A wild pitch and an error account for the other two.

Junior Wooten and the Williams boys have been the most consistent orthodox batsmen. Wooten, in 22 official swings, has a gaudy .367, Ray Williams, at .353, is eight points over his Southeastern League swat mark, and Charlie Williams, who has hit in seven straight games, is up to .296 after a slow start.

Andy Elko (3-0), Howard Anderson (2-1), Elmer Toth (2-0), Joe Reardon (1-0) and Kirby Higbe (2-1) have accounted for the ten wins.

Southpaw Pete Fox has been charged with two setbacks. Higbe got the other black mark.

Cobb Routs Kilgore For City Golf Title

By BERT PRATHER

Pretournament favorite Mrs. John Cobb came through as expected in the finals of the annual Women's City Golf Championship Friday afternoon at Druid Hills Golf Club, defeating young Barbara Kilgore, 7 and 6, in the 18-hole finals to annex her second city crown.

Mrs. Cobb, the former Jane Sharkey, won her other title in 1947. She did not compete in '49 and '50.

Jane assumed command at the second hole and ran up a 6-up lead at the end of nine. She won two, three, five, six, seven and nine to turn in a two over women's par 39 for the side.

Mrs. Cobb then went 7-up by taking the 415-yard tenth with a par five to Barbara's six. They halved the next two and that was the ball game.

Miss Kilgore, although beaten soundly in the finals, was the darling of the tournament. A real rookie, playing in her first tournament, Barbara surprised even her most rabid boosters by marching through to the finals. Her most spectacular showing was in the second round where she rallied from six down at nine to beat Mrs. Frances Lazarus 1 up by chipping in on the eighteenth.

Mrs. L. B. Yarbrough captured the championship flight consolation with a 4-and-2 victory over Mrs. Frank Higgins.

First-flight winner was Mrs. Pete Cole, wife of the Candler Park professional. She downed Mrs. C. D. Fields, 2 and 1, Friday.

Consolation silver in this flight went to Mrs. Harry Tanner, who whipped Mrs. Lowell Dowdell, 4 and 3, in the finals.

Mrs. T. R. Staton, President of the Atlanta Women's Golf Association, presented trophies to all winners and runners-up.

Dixisteel Nine Set To Open Home Slate

Max Mayfield's strong Dixisteel nine, long one of the top powers in Georgia amateur and semi-pro baseball, will open its 1951 home slate against Post 255 Saturday. Mayfield has some pregame festivities planned at Glenn Field before the 3:30 starting time for the only City League game of the day.

Jesse Bradshaw's Fulton Bag club and Scottdale Mills, which have been rivals longer than any other two teams in the Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation, will come to grips in a Textile League feature at the Bag's Memorial Drive field.

Ben Massengale's Pickrick Drive-In powerhouse will invade Milstead for another promising loop joust.

Two-Mile Record

PHILADELPHIA, April 27—(AP)—Army's easy-striding Dick Shea, set a two-mile record for the Penn Relays Friday in 9 minutes 11.9 seconds. The durable West Point distance runner beat the mark of 9:12.2 set by Gregory Rice, of Notre Dame, in 1944.

CHEERLEADER STAR

Rudy Valentino, captain and star tumbler on the Penn State gymnastics team, is also a Lion cheerleader.

Uses Double-Action WAX SEAL... Cleans As It Waxes, Seals As It Polishes

J. L. Norris of 529 Florence Ave., Louisville, Kentucky, says the hardest money he ever earned. was the money he saved the first time he polished his own car. He used an old-fashioned car polish, and maintains that it was slave labor, pure and simple. But let him tell the story:

"If it wasn't for WAX SEAL, I'd probably still drive a dirty car. I swore I'd never polish my car again after the long, long day it took with old-fashioned wax.

"I watched my friends try other polishes, too. They would slave for a couple of hours and still not have a decent shine. Car polishing was for the professionals in my book.

"But, I finally fell for a WAX SEAL advertisement. It didn't brag. It told me I'd have to use a little elbow grease and that the job would take about an hour. It said WAX SEAL used high quality pure liquid Carnauba Wax, and explained how a cleaning ingredient in the polish cleaned the surface so the Carnauba Wax could cover everything easily.

"WAX SEAL did everything claimed for it.

"I paid $1.65 for a pint of WAX SEAL on a money back guarantee. Used about a fourth of the pint, and it was 3 months before I had to polish the car again. That's four shines a year from a pint...you can't beat that."

LONG LASTING SHINE EASY WITH DOUBLE ACTION WAX SEAL

WAX SEAL cleans, polishes, waxes and seals in one easy operation. No cleaner to buy. No need to wash the car first unless it's caked with mud. No harsh abrasives in WAX SEAL, and no harmful acids.

It's not dirt cheap. It costs $1.65, but for that money you get enough WAX SEAL to keep your car shining for a whole year and it gives a shine that stays on, come rain, sleet, fog or mist.

WAX SEAL is absolutely guaranteed. Full satisfaction, or we refund every penny you paid.

Seton Hall Jumper Breaks Hamm's Mark

Condensed From Wire Reports

Andy Stanfield of Seton Hall broke the 21-year-old broad jump record of Georgia Tech's Edward Hamm as the 67th Penn Relays opened in Philadelphia Friday.

Stanfield leaped 25 feet 4½ inches, eclipsing Hamm's mark by a quarter of an inch. Hamm's previous record was set in 1930.

Army's fluid-running two-miler, Dick Shea, also powered through to a record in his race. He finished in 9:11.9, to break the old mark of 9:12.2 set by Greg Rice of Notre Dame in 1944.

Lightweight champion Ike Williams has signed to defend his title against Art Aragon in Los Angeles June 19, according to Babe McCoy, boxing matchmaker.

A quartet of surprising Michigan State milers set a new four-mile relay record in the Drake Relay Carnival. With Warren Druetzler running a 4:15.8 anchor mile, the Spartans snatched victory from Washington State in 17:21.2, topping the 17.29.6 established by Oklahoma A&M 12 years ago.

Mickey Cochrane, former major league catching great and now a Navy Lieutenant-Commander, will be honored with a special day Saturday at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, where he coaches the Navy team after being re-activated two weeks ago.

Joe DiMaggio, star New York Yankee outfielder, complained after the game with the Boston Red Sox Friday that his right shoulder felt stiff. He will enter Hill Hospital in New York for X-rays and an examination.

The Philadelphia Phils have optioned catcher Stan Lopata to Baltimore's Orioles. With the Phils' National League champs all last season, Lopata hit .209 in 58 games.

Boston was awarded the annual all-star game for the second straight year as the National Basketball Association closed out a three-day meeting.

Dick Savitt and Budge Patty reached the finals of the French Doubles Championships Friday by defeating France's best pair, Bernard Destremau and Robert Abdesselam, in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

Carson Sets New City Mile Mark

By MILTON CHAMBERS

John Carson, the Roosevelt shorty, calmly went about setting another new City record for the mile Friday at Grady Stadium.

This one, his second in eight days, was 4:40.6. His mark last week was 4:42. Two years ago he ran the distance in 4:45.3, and didn't participate in 1950.

In the four meets, last of the season, Grady beat O'Keefe, 75-47; Smith topped Roosevelt by the same score; Bass won over Murphy, 73½-48½, and Sylvan trimmed neighboring Brown, 68 1/6-52 5/6.

During the rainy afternoon, two other records came within shooting range when Brown's Robert Gardner went the half-mile in 2:08.8 and Emory Fears, the Sylvan sprinter, passed the 20-foot broad jump barrier with 20 feet, 2 inches.

Mr. Moto Disqualified

The Great Mr. Moto's local wrestling debut ended in disqualification and a loss to Atlanta's popular Don McIntyre before a packed house Friday night at the City Auditorium.

Everything was proceeding according to Hoyle until 13 minutes had elapsed. Then Fuji, Moto's second, tripped McIntyre as the latter fell, Mr. Moto pounced on him, applying a body press. The referee, however, reversed the decision and everyone was happy, except Mr. Moto.

Seminoles Top Bulldog Nine, 8 to 6

By GENE ASHER

ATHENS, April 27—Florida State's baseball Seminoles defeated Georgia here Friday. They beat the Bulldogs earlier this season in Tallahassee.

The Seminoles, paced by Pitcher Ed Sessions who had four safeties in as many trips, collected ten hits off three Bulldog hurlers.

Georgia, behind from the outset, threatened to tie the score in the eighth after singles by Sonny Dykes and Johnny Clifton. But Jim Umbricht grounded out and Catcher Don Dozier hit into a double play to retire the side.

The game was delayed 15 minutes in the eighth when plate umpire Frankie Allen thumbed Seminole Catcher Ronald Melton.

Leavell Quells Avondale, 5-3

Jimmy Leavell, who hurled a one-hitter against Chamblee his last time out, Friday night flipped a two-hitter to give Southwest DeKalb a 5-3 decision over previously undefeated Avondale High.

The victory kept Avondale from clinching the pennant in the Eastern Division of Region 3-A play, leaving the winners with a mathematical chance to tie for the flag. Leavell fanned nine batters.

Avondale pulled a triple play in the fifth inning. Runners were on first and third with none out when a Southwest batter lined to the Avondale shortstop, the triple killing going from short to third to first.

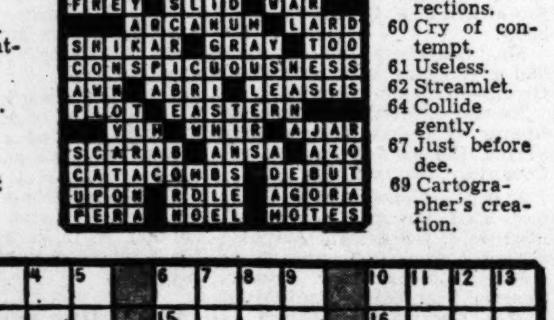
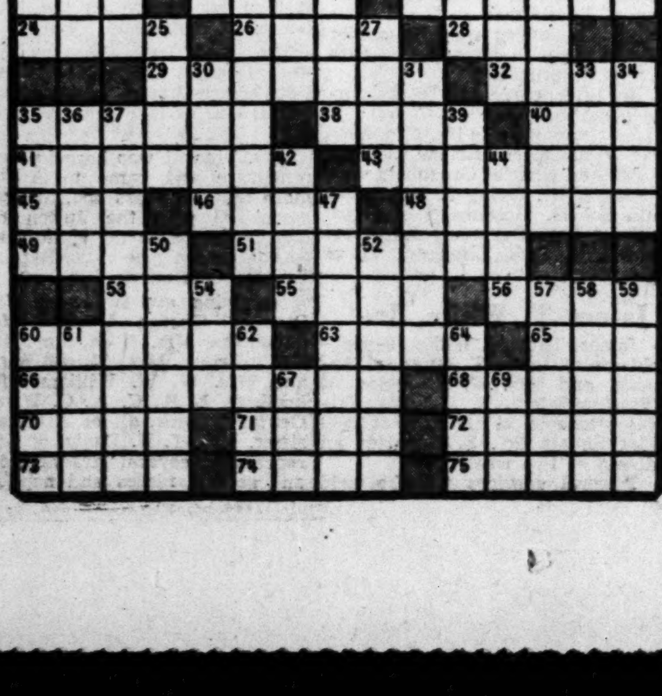
Solution to Yesterday's Puzzle





They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Seek To Free Strip Teaser From Convent

NEW ORLEANS, April 27—(AP). The attorney for a 13-year-old red-haired French Quarter stripteaser said Friday he will go to the State Supreme Court a second time in an effort to get his client released from a Catholic convent.

Maurice Gatlin, the attorney, said he would ask the high court to order Juvenile Judge Leo Blessing to lower the $10,000 bail he set for the girl.

The bond was set Thursday night after the Supreme Court ordered Judge Blessing either to fix bail for the girl or show cause next week why she shouldn't be freed.

The girl is being held in the House of the Good Shepherd pending trial in juvenile court on charges of being a juvenile delinquent.

Police said she and Edward James Haley were arrested in a French Quarter night spot while she did a strip-tease in scanty costume. She was charged with being a juvenile delinquent and he with having carnal knowledge of a female under the age of 17. Officers said the charge was filed against him when the girl told them she had been living with Haley as his wife.

12-Year-Old Boy Burns to Death Trying To Save His Pets in Blaze

McKEESPORT, Pa., April 27—(AP)—A 12-year-old boy burned to death Friday while trying to rescue his puppy and three kittens.

The victim was George Beattie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Beattie.

The grief-stricken father told this story:

He was awakened by the smell of smoke. He roused his wife, George, and their other children, Billy, 3, and Robert, 14.

As the family reached the first floor, George turned into the kitchen where he was keeping the puppy he bought only Thursday and the three kittens.

His father tried to follow him, but was driven back by the flames.

The puppy and the kittens were killed in the fire. George's body was found several hours after the blaze was extinguished. Cause of the fire was not determined.

YOUR STARS TODAY

SUN IN TAURUS

General Tendencies—The moon is in the sign Aquarius today, always stimulating friendly relations and bringing about new acquaintances. The evening here ought to be very pleasant for social afairs, so make your dates right away if you have not already done so. Do not allow criticisms of your plans to stop you; there may be a little sarcasm voiced about some of your friends or interests during the late afternoon. What does this amount to? Nothing.

If It's Your Birthday—There is a good year stretching out before you, allowing you more freedom and better contacts with older people or with those in positions of authority. You may not come into money immediately after your birthday but there is a nice little sum on its way toward you, probably due to arrive about the time of your next birthday or a few weeks earlier. A hint of romance is present also, particularly for the men born on this date.

Eagle Eye Spots Error In Pulitzer Prize Show

By HOWELL JONES

Eagle-eyed viewers who never miss a technical error in a movie—and never miss a chance to let the producers know it—are now hard at work searching for miscues on television screens.

The perfectionists found one last week on the "Pulitzer Prize Playhouse" during the production of "Rebellion in Jackson County." The story, set in the year 1929, had one scene in which star Jimmy Dunn read a newspaper headline dealing with his activities. For the scene, the show's producer used a specially printed headline which was pasted on a current paper.

There it was! Right under the pasted headline was a subhead reading: "Robert Alda, star of 'Guys and Dolls,' signs for movie." "Guys and Dolls" is a brand-new hit show on Broadway.

Wendy Barrie, glamorous actress, takes over as guest hostess on "Your Show of Shows" at 9 p. m., on WSB-TV to introduce stars Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca and another all-star revue.

In addition to the usual comedy sketches, the "SOS" presents the Billy Williams Quartet, the Hamilton Trio, Bill Hayes, Jack Russell and Judy Johnson.

Screen Star Don Ameche portrays Stephen Foster in a drama-music-dance presentation of the composer's life and works on the "Ken Murray Show" at 8 p. m., on WAGA-TV. The program's "Girl of the Week" musical production is a gay fantasy featuring Darla Hood, who takes a trip to the moon in song and story.

Also on the show, the second annual campaign of the United Cerebral Palsy Association will be launched by a group of top entertainers including Frank Sinatra, Abe Burrows, Robert Q. Lewis, Gypsy Rose Lee, Dagmar, Phil Silvers and Constance Moore.

NANCY CARROLL plays the role of Lydia Harrison in the drama of contemporary domestic life, "When a Wife's Away," a television adaptation of Faith Baldwin's story on "Theater of Romance" at 11 a. m., on WSB-TV. . . . A young medical student is charged with the murder of his aunt in the "State Versus Paul Bedford" on Famous Jury Trials to be televised at 5:30 p. m., on WAGA-TV. . . . The running of the $25,000 Grey Lag Handicap will be televised at 4 p. m., on WSB-TV with Clem McCarthy at the sound mike. . . . A trio of Columbia University students will compete with pre-meds from Johns Hopkins for dates with pretty models on the final telecast of Blind Date at 6 p. m., on WSB-TV. . . . Buddy Rogers and Freddy Martin highlight "Cavalcade of Bands at 10 p. m. on WAGA-TV. . . . The Gonzales Sisters and their dog troupe headline "Big Top" at 12 noon WAGA-TV, and comedians Smith and Dale visit Frank Sinatra on his show at 9 p. m., WAGA-TV.

BEST ON RADIO: Jonel Perlea conducts the NBC Symphony Orchestra in readings of Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite," the Overture to "Donna Diana" by Reznicek and Nicolai's "Overture to the Merry Wives of Windsor" at 6 p. m., WSB-radio. . . . The first two-part radio presentation of a Somerset Maugham work will be made at 11:30 a. m., WAGA-radio, when Nina Foch and Shepperd Strudwick star in "Of Human Bondage". . . . Arnold Moss and Judy Parrish star in "For Your Own Good" on Grand Central Station at 12:30 p. m., WAGA-radio. . . . Dr. Robert S. Giffen is guest minister on the Pastor's Study program at 11:30 p. m., WSB-radio. . . . The annual Atlanta Journal spelling bee will be broadcast at 1:30 p. m., WSB. . . . Herman Hickman talks Southern-style sports with Frank Graham on Hickman's show at 11:15 p. m., WSB-radio, and Kay Phillips recounts her investigation of the life of a taxi-dancer on "Alias Jane Doe" at 1:30 p. m., WAGA-radio.

Atlanta Moves to Third In Traffic Safety Drive

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Atlanta's traffic safety program won national recognition in 1950, for the first time in history. Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, Friday informed Mayor Hartsfield that Atlanta has been awarded third place in cities of its population group in the nationwide traffic safety campaign.

The City jumped from 29th place out of 32 cities in its population class in 1949 to third place in 1950.

Hartsfield was exuberant and praised Police Chief Jenkins, Traffic Supt. Jeff Sikes, Traffic Recorder Luke Arnold, Traffic Engineer Karl Bevins, the Greater Atlanta Traffic Improvement Association, the Greater Atlanta Safety Council, newspapers and radio stations for making a coordinated "safety effort possible."

A special program will be arranged soon at which the award will be presented formally. Bob Leopold, executive secretary of the trafic improvement group, said the Safety Council has not yet informed local officials when the award will be ready for formal acceptance.

Dearborn told Hartsfield in a telegram "you and your citizens are congratulated on this achievement."

In 1939, Atlanta won honorable mention for its trafic safety program, but never had received an award.

The award is based on ratings involving motor vehicle death records, traffic ordinances, accident records, traffic engineering, enforcement, school safety, and public information.

In 1950 Atlanta reorganized its police traffic division under Supt. Sikes, organized the engineering phase under Bevins, improved correlation between traffic arrests and convictions, and increased appropriations for traffic purposes.

Buildings Permitted

Permits for construction of 21 duplexes and a warehouse costing an aggregate of $163,800 have been issued by City Building Inspector William R. Wofford. The duplexes will be erected on Erickson Ave., Arkwright Pl., and on Wylie St., S. E. They will have three rooms, a dining area and a bath each. The warehouse of brick and masonry construction will be built at 605-611 North Ave.

Miss Clarke visited Miss Jarrell's office accompanied by Paul West, Fulton County Superintendent.

Atlanta Retail Food Dealers Association, Inc., has renewed its demand for enforcement of ordinances barring sale of food items, except milk and bread on Sunday. A resolution passed by the executive board urges that "flagrant" violations be stopped.

House Trims 27 Agencies By 10 Percent

WASHINGTON, April 27—(U.P.)—The House Appropriations Committee made its strongest economy drive of the present session Friday by ordering a 10 percent cut in the $6,837,677,465 fund which President Truman requested to run 27 Government agencies in the next fiscal year.

Among those hardest-hit were the Atomic Energy Commission, the President's own executive office and the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Despite the new cuts, House economy advocates have far to go before reaching their avowed goal of trimming Mr. Truman's budget for the year starting July 1 by $6,000,000,000 to $9,000,000,000.

Including Friday's action, they have thus far made a saving on only some $834,000,000. Many of the measures remaining probably will not be trimmed very much.

Liquor Aids Longevity, Vet, 103, Says

RICHMOND, Va., April 27—(U.P.)—John Salling, a grizzled 103-year-old mountaineer who is Virginia's last surviving Confederate veteran, said Friday he plans to be baptized May 30.

Salling, an admitted former moonshiner who attributes his long life to "following hard work and drinking liquor," wrote John H. Johnson, commander of the Virginia Division of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, he was sorry he wouldn't be able to make the trip to the last Confederate reunion in Norfolk, Va., May 30.

On that day, he said, he is going to be baptized in a little mountain creek near his home.

"I think it's time for a man 103 to make a change, don't you?" he said.

Knocked five feet by the impact, he got to his feet, dusted off his clothing and strolled away despite atempts to obtain his name and address.

Ptl. L. Rowell and L. O. Davis said two witnesses verified Miss Spinks' account of the incident.

Talmadge Praises State On Livestock

By CHARLES SKINNER

DONALSONVILLE, April 27—Gov. Talmadge told the 13th annual Seminole County Fat Cattle Show audience here Friday that "Georgia has reached its highest peak in agricultural production" . . . with cash returns from livestock and poultry increased four and seven times over in the past 10 years.

But sharing the spotlight with the youthful Governor was little blond 10-year-old Bobbie Jean Cobb, whose whiteface Hereford steer was judged grand champion of the show.

The 900-pound calf won out over 59 FFA and 4-H entries from Seminole County—said to produce more fine cattle than any county east of the Mississippi.

L. O. Moseley, general manager of the Henry Grady Hotel in Atlanta, bought the champion for $1.75 a pound, setting a new state sale record. Moseley raises cattle in Laurens County.

Gov. Talmadge praised the farthest southwest county in the state as having "the best conservation program I have seen in Georgia—or the entire world."

The Governor flew to Donalsonville from Atlanta before continuing by plane during the afternoon to Columbia, S. C., to attend a reception given by Gov. James F. Byrnes for Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

Other 4-H and FFA class winners were: FFA class A, Melvin Alday; FFFA Medium, Bonnie C. Barber; FFA Class C, Wayne Eason; 4-H Class A, Albert Spooner; 4-H Medium, Barbara Lee Jernigan.

'CAUSE FOR ALARM'

Rhodes Film Thrill Epic

"Cause for Alarm," which opened quietly and without drumbeating at the Rhodes Theater Wednesday, is a new and terrifying kind of motion picture experience. By cleverly twisting a quiet neighborhood into a nerve-shattering trap for a helpless housewife, M-G-M- director Tay Garnett makes villians of such normal everyday people as the postman, the lady next door and the corner druggist, and as a result comes up with a fine offbeat shocker.

The simple plot revolves around Loretta Young's efforts to retrieve a letter from the postman. But that letter invokes a chase as hair-raising as a Hitchcock thriller or a cops-and-robbers chase through dark city alleys. The resulting hour-and-a-half is more than faintly reminiscent of the type of suspense which made a success of the radio chiller, "Sorry Wrong Number." —B. D.

Builders Seek Plan To Curb Construction Accidents Here

Representatives of building and construction organizations will meet next week to attempt to curb the rising rate of fatal accidents on construction projects in Metropolitan Atlanta.

Bob Leopold, executive secretary of the Greater Atlanta Safety Council, said Friday Rutherford Ellis, president, will invite a group of leaders to a conference as soon as Ellis returns to Atlanta. He is out of town on business.

DEATH RATE RISING

Before leaving, Ellis expressed alarm at the increasing number of construction accidents which have resulted in deaths and announced he would call the meeting to discuss plans to emphasize the safety factor" in future work.

William R. Wofford, city building inspector, and Fred B. Moore, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, said they would co-operate in any way possible.

Wofford pointed out that 11 deaths have occurred on construction projects in metropolitan Atlanta in the past six months. He predicted that others will occur unless construction leaders become more conscious of danger to workmen and take measures to insure maximum safety.

The record show 11 workers have met death on construction projects here since last fall. Four were killed at the new Kraft Foods Plant; one on the Masonic Temple demolition; four on Rich's annex and two on a Peachtree Creek sewer project.

SAFETY PROPOSAL

Wofford said some incentive system, such as awarding citations for safety records, might be devised to make contractors and construction superintendents more safety-minded.

Safety angles are not included in existing laws, Wofford said, and inspections stress only quality of the work. Organizations mentioned for future conferences include the Georgia Society of Professional Engineers, the Chamber of Commerce, Associated General Contractors, Inc., and delegates from architectual, insurance and labor organizations.

FOUND IN CANAL

Lois Janes, Seven

Augusta Girl Found Dead In River Canal

AUGUSTA, April 27—(AP)—Curly-haired, seven-year-old Lois Janes was found dead Friday in the swirling, muddy water of a canal into which, investigators believe, she may have stumbled accidentally a week ago.

Fisherman Lovey Ivey, returning by boat from his minnow traps, sighted the frail, bedraggled and broken body in the gray mist of dawn. It was caught in sluice gates through which water is drawn to Sibley Mills near the child's home.

Marks on her body were believed by Coroner Nathan F. Widener to have come after death.

Widener reported an autopsy performed by E. R. Pund showed no evidence of rape or foul play. He added that there was little water in the lungs but explained that the larnyx might have contracted sharply and cut off the water if Lois fell into the murky ditch in the darkness of last Saturday night.

The tragic disappearance of the little child of divorced parents stirred the city as have few recent events.

Thousands joined in a feverish search for her, including more than 200 soldiers from near-by Camp Gordon. More than 100 soldiers donned gas masks and probed for a whole day in fuming sewers underneath the mill village.

A $440 reward was offered for her discovery, $200 of it by the Georgia-Carolina Ku Klux Klan, which emphasized, however, that Lois' family had no connection with the order.

Plans were afoot to drain the winding 15-mile canal, leading from the Savannah River, when the body was discovered.

Lois lived with her mother, Cherry, and her stepfather, J. T. Logan, a textile worker. Her father, Curtis Janes, divorced from her mother, has been working on the atomic energy project across the Savannah River in South Carolina.

Her mother, left prostrate by Lois' death, was under a doctor's care Friday night and unable to talk with anyone.

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, April 27—Protests by Protestant groups and individuals Friday forced the Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsor of Saturday's Loyalty Day parade, to change announced plans for Cardinal Spellman to ride with Gen. MacArthur in the vanguard of the procession.

The protests, it was learned, were based mainly on the fact that Gen. MacArthur is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church and that the Right Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Episcopal Bishop of New York, was not assigned a seat in the automobile.

Under hastily revised arrangements, Cardinal Spellman, Bishop Donegan, Dr. Julius Mark, Senior Rabbi of Temple Emanu-el, and Archbishop Michael of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, will participate as a group.

Gen. MacArthur was unaware of the original plan that placed Cardinal Spellman by his side in the parade's lead car, and expressed concern at the contretemps when he was reached in Chicago early Friday by Bishop Donegan. It was understood that the Bishop was more amused than offended by the incident.

Mr. Cagle was born in Lithonia Jan. 27, 1854. As a boy, he watched four brothers march away to fight with the Confederate Army. Two of them were killed, one at the Battle of Vicksburg.

The Atlantan practiced law in Lithonia, was the second mayor of the city, serving two terms, and served as justice of the peace.

He moved to Atlanta in 1901 and worked for the Georgia Railroad until his retirement. Active until about three years ago, Mr. Cagle was affiliated with the Primitive Baptist Church here.

He is survived by seven daughters, Mrs. W. R. Heston, Mrs. W. D. Roper, Mrs. A. K. Billings, Mrs. Lacy P. Dalhouse, Mrs. W. I. Thompson, Miss Dora Cagle and Miss Jane Cagle, of Atlanta; two sons, Frank F. Cagle, of Lithonia, and Waldo T. Cagle, of Atlanta; 14 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Hinman Research Building Dedicated at Georgia Tech

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT

In the presence of a distinguished group of educators, scientists and businessmen, the new Thomas P. Hinman Research Building was dedicated Friday at Georgia Tech.

The building, a memorial to the late Dr. Thomas P. Hinman, of Atlanta, cost $350,000. Col. Blake Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech, estimated that the building and the equipment in it represents an investment of $1,500,000. This building, which contains 22,000 square feet of floor space, has now become an addition to the Main Research Building at Georgia Tech.

In commenting on this addition to Georgia Tech's research facilities, Dr. Harmon W. Caldwell, Chancellor of the University System of Georgia, said the "function of research in pushing forward the frontiers of human knowledge is equally as important as the teaching function." He called attention to the fact that the Georgia Tech Engineering Research Institute now does work which brings in more than $1,000,000 a year.

Dr. Eric A. Walker, executive secretary of the Research and Development Board of the Department of Defense, Washington, said "Georgia Tech is now one of the foremost research and development institutions in the country" and the new addition to its research facilities will serve to increase Georgia Tech's prestige in research.

At a luncheon previous to the dedication, Dr. Walker spoke on "Function of Research in a Defense Economy" and predicted a serious shortage during the coming year in scientists and engineers needed for the defense work.

Dr. Thad Horton, Sr., general chairman of the Hinman Dental Clinic, delivered the eulogy on Dr. Hinman and told of his leadership in dentistry and related fields.

Col. Van Leer introduced Dr. Hinman's three nieces—Miss Cara Hinman and Miss Dorothy Hinman, both of Atlanta, and Mrs. Ruth Hinman Carter, of Greensboro, N. C., and Dr. Hinman's grandnephew, George H. Carter, the son of Mrs. Carter. Miss Dorothy Hinman unveiled the plaque dedicating the building to the memory of Dr. Hinman.

As a final touch, Dr. Cherry Emerson, vice president of Georgia Tech, delivered the keys of the new building to Dr. Gerald A. Rosselot, Director of the Georgia Tech Engineering Experiment Station.

Following the ceremony, the group made an inspection tour of the Research Building.

Russia Plans New Strike, Gen. Doolittle Believes

By BILL BORING

HAMILTON, April 27—Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, famous World War II airman and now vice-president of Shell Oil Company, expressed fear here Friday that Russia is planning another aggressive strike.

Interviewed in an idyllic setting, between swims in a turquoise lake at Cason J. Callaway's magnificent Blue Springs Farms, the Tokyo bomber said he was very much concerned over the bombastic monologue of Russia's Andrei Gromyko at the meeting of Western deputies in Paris.

Such bitter harangues on the part of a top-level Soviet diplomat usually signal some new offensive move, Doolittle pointed out.

Although a Shell executive, Doolittle is in the Reserves and currently spends four days a week in Air Force headquarters at the Pentagon in Washington. He would not commit himself on the row centering around Gen. MacArthur other than to say he believed at least one good result has come of it in that it has shaken the people out of the apparent apathetic attitude on foreign affairs into which they had fallen just prior to the MacArthur's ouster.

SHELL DIRECTORS MEET

Doolittle was at Blue Springs Farm for a regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Shell company. The directors came here for the meeting at the invitation of Callaway, himself a member of the board.

Callaway's farm, a marvel in agriculture because it exemplifies how tired, worn land can be restored to beauty and vitality scientifically, in recent years has come to be an important seat of American business and finance.

The Shell directors are the third representatives of U. S. industry to take the pilgrimage to Blue Springs for a mixture of business and relaxation. U. S. Steel and General Electric each have held board meetings here.

GEORGIANS INVITED

Following the work sessions, Callaway usually invites a number of Georgia business leaders to visit with the officials for an afternoon of social relaxation. In friendly chats that follow, the Georgians put in a lot of good verbal licks for their State's industrial possibilities.

In addition to Gen. Doolittle and Callaway, the Shell directors included H. S. M. Burns, president of the company; James B. Black, president of Pacific Gas and Electric Company; Lewis L. Clarke, New York financial executive; Jerome C. Hunsaker, head of the Aeronautical Engineering Department at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; P. E. Lakin, vice president of the company; Lewis E. Pierson, of the New York State Savings Bond Division, U. S. Treasury, and H. Wilkinson, president of Asiatic Petroleum Corporation and Shell Caribbean Petroleum Company.

Grains Wipe Out Losses at Close

CHICAGO, April 27—(AP)—Grains staged a moderate advance toward the close on the Board of Trade Friday, wiping out earlier losses in many cases.

The market was featured by quite a pick-up in activity for rye, usually a grain with a small turnover. All deliveries, both old style and new style, sailed to new seasonal highs on gains running to several cents at times.

Buying in rye was based on the belief that the crop has deteriorated along with wheat, although little has been heard on rye. Some of the larger commission houses have recommended buying this cereal over recent sessions.

Wheat closed unchanged to ¾ lower, May $2.51¼-2.50⅞; corn ⅛-⅝ higher, May $1.82⅛-1.82; oats ⅛-⅝ higher, May 91⅛-⅞; rye (old style) 1 to 2½ higher, May $2.07-2.06¾; soybeans unchanged to ½ lower, September $3.23¾, and lard unchanged to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $17.67.

TODAY IN BUSINESS

Non-Farm Jobs Rise In State

Non-farm employment in Georgia, representing the level of industrial activity in the State, is on the way to a new all-time high record.

Figures released Friday by Ben T. Huiet, Georgia's commissioner of labor, indicate that the non-farm employment for March reached 822,900.

The latest figure, according to Huiet, indicates a pick-up in permanent employment in the State's industries. Early reports on the April volume of non-farm employment indicates that the April figure may surpass the all-time record of December.

Biggest March increases were in the grocery business, the wholesale and retail trade divisions, government workers and in the service industries. The non-durable goods industries reported a loss of 300 workers during the month.

Huiet estimated that industrial and commercial employment in the Atlanta area during March reached 268,700, a level almost as high as the peak of last December. Principal gains were 800 workers in manufacturing and 700 in durable goods industries.

Phone Hike Sought

The Georgia Public Service Commission Friday took under advisement requests of the Commerce Telephone Company, Commerce, Ga., to finance conversion to a dial system and to hike rates to subscribers.

The company sought authority to issue and sell $200,000 worth of first mortgage 4 percent serial bonds with which it hopes to buy land and construct new offices for the dial system.

It also asked for a rate increase at Commerce when it converts to the automatic dial operation. In addition, the company asked for a rate increase on the Homer and Maysville exchanges.

Price Charts Asked

James F. Hollingsworth, District Director for the Office of Price Stabilization in Atlanta, Friday asked every merchant required to file a Pricing Chart under Ceiling Price Regulation No. 7 to comply with this order as soon as possible and not wait for the deadline on May 30.

It is to the advantage of the merchant to make an early return, Hollingsworth said, because he can begin at once to make his prices under the margin of profit shown on his file. Until then, Hollingsworth continued, the merchant's prices must remain frozen under the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. This provision permits no adjustment for wholesale cost increases.

Research Problems

The rapid expansion of the Government's research activities threatens to draw scientists away from industrial laboratories, thereby reducing the ability of business firms to develop new products and processes, H. McKinley Conway, Jr., of Atlanta, director of the Southern Association of Science and Industry, Friday told the Industry and Economics Section of the Alabama Academy of Science at Birmingham. One way to remedy this difficulty, Conway said, is for the Government to set up a system under which industrial firms may assume greater responsibility for essential military research.

Federal Aid Funds

The Federal Government during the last fiscal year allotted $268,587,000 in Federal aid money to seven Southeastern States, Merrill C. Lofton, regional director in Atlanta for the U. S. Department of Commerce, said here Friday. Of this total amount, Lofton said that Georgia received $49,782,000. All this money, Lofton said, was spent in the form of programs in which Federal and State agencies participated on a joint basis.

30-Year Lease

Betty Gay of Atlanta, Inc., a subsidiary of the Gay Apparel Corporation, has entered into a new 30-year lease on property which it now occupies at 66 Whitehall St., S. W. The Gay Apparel Corporation operates a chain of more than 50 stores in the South and the Southwest.

Free on Bond After 11 Years, Spits at Jail

PHILADELPHIA, April 27—(AP). Everett De Baun walked out of Eastern State Penitentiary Friday for the first time in nearly 11 years. He was free under $1,000 bond to await a new trial on robbery charges.

Outside, he turned and spit at the big black gate that had closed behind him so long ago.

A gaunt, 41-year-old man with a prisoner's close-cropped hair De Baun took only a few paces toward a taxi waiting at the curb. Then he turned and spat again.

A reporter asked for an interview. De Baun remained silent as a stylishly dressed woman with auburn hair, who was waiting in the taxi, urged him to refer all questions to his lawyer.

"Who is the lady?" asked a man in the little knot of reporters.

"She's my grandmother," snapped De Baun. Then he stepped into the cab and it moved away. De Baun didn't say where they were going.

The dramatic scene took place only a short time after Judge Vincent Carroll ruled that De Baun had been deprived of his constitutional rights at the trial in 1940. He was convicted then of participating in two robberies that netted a total of more than $4,000, and was sentenced to two consecutive terms of 10 to 20 years in prison.
